Packers, Union Reach Accord On Fish Price

Approval of Deal by Membership Expected to End 38-Day Strike

VANCOUVER, Oct. 15 (CP) — Company representatives and fishermen's union negotiators reached agreement tonight on prices to be paid for fall chum salmon in British Columbia.

The 4,000 salmon fishermen, on strike 38 days because of the dispute are expected to approve the price proposal when it is put before them Friday with a policy committee recommendation for acceptance.

The fishermen are represented by the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (T.L.C.)

Details of the policy committee-operator agreement were withheld, and Homer Stevens, union secretary-treasurer, said that the strike is not yet officially over.

CALLED BY WICKS

Tonight's negotiating session was called by Labor Minister Lyle Wicks following an unexplained breakdown of earlier salmon price settlement talks.

Fishermen met in the afternoon to vote on an earlier tentative agreement but were told during the meeting that the agreement was "not acceptable to the fisheries association."

Fishermen went on strike for last year's prices. The last announced company offer averaged a little more than half the rate paid in 1951.

That company offer was accepted by Indian fishermen bargaining through the Native Brotherhood of B.C.

Governor-General Leaves Mark on Victoria

Canada's first native-born governor-general yesterday opened new home of Greater Victoria Arts Centre, the former home of Miss Sara Spencer, 1040 Moss Street. Governor-General Vincent Massey toured the galleries, then told guests the centre was a "most important institution" to the community. He is shown speaking from a rostrum in the centre's main hall.

Old Parties Won't Fight Similkameen

Liberals Name Candidate To Enter Columbia Contest

Liberals and Progressive Conservatives have decided not to contest the Similkameen riding in the provincial by-elections November 24, but the Liberals have nominated a candidate for the Columbia contest.

George Keenleyside, Golden butcher, was nominated by the Columbia Liberal Association at a closed meeting attended by some 35 delegates, including former M.L.A. Tom King. He will oppose Social Credit Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

Arthur Laing, Liberal M.P. for Vancouver South, spoke at the meeting, in what was interpreted as a move to block any possibility of the local association deciding not to contest the by-election.

The Liberal announcement that they would not contest Similkameen was made after a nominating convention. Officers said decision not to contest the riding was unanimous.

EXECUTIVE MEETING

The Progressive Conservatives made their announcement after a meeting of the district executive. The executive said the decision was "in the best interests of the people of B.C."

The Similkameen and Columbia ridings were captured by Social Credit in the provincial election but thrown open in a gamble to seat two non-member cabinet ministers — Finance Minister Einar Gunderson and Attorney-General Bonner.

Mr. Gunderson will not be able to take Similkameen without opposition. The C.C.F. has nominated H. S. Kenyon, narrowly defeated in the June 12 provincial election.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett had asked that opposition parties not contest the by-elections, called when the Rev. Harry Francis, in Similkameen, and R. O. Newton, in Columbia, resigned to open seats for the two ministers.

The premier, with 19 members in the House, compared to 18 C.C.F., six Liberals and four Progressive Conservatives, had to go outside the legislature to name the two ministers because none of the Social Crediters elected had necessary qualifications.

SERIOUS MISTAKE

Decisions by the two riding associations came the same day that H. G. T. Perry, former president of the B.C. Liberal Association, made a strong recommendation that the Liberals refrain from contesting the two by-elections.

"Liberals would be making a serious mistake if they entered candidates in these two by-elections," Mr. Perry said in an interview. "If they won them both, which is unlikely, they would not gain much in the House in strength, but would reduce the Social Credit Party to 17 seats, which is one less than C.C.F. representation.

"On the other hand," Mr. Perry said, "even if they won neither they might split the vote to such an extent that the C.C.F. would take one or both seats, and thereby gain plurality in the House. If this occurred, Harold Winch would be entitled to be premier. Under these circumstances, W. A. C. Bennett would be well advised to resign and recommend to the Lieutenant-Governor that he call upon Winch, as leader of the largest group, to form a government forthwith."

Canadian Blasts Ban On Correspondents

TOKYO, Oct. 16 (Thursday) (AP)—Canadian and British correspondents covering the United Nations troops in Korea protested to Gen. Mark Clark that they were barred from accompanying the joint army-navy task force that skirted the east shores of Red-held North Korea yesterday.

Representatives of the Canadian Press, the London Express and the London Daily Telegraph felt so strongly about what they said was a navy order barring non-Americans from U.S. warships that they sent copies of their protest to their respective embassies here.

Bill Boss of the Canadian Press said in his protest the Communists' charge that this was a United States war in Korea and not a United Nations war seemed to be agreed to by the United Nations command in Tokyo.

Gen. Clark radioed an apology to Boss in Korea. He said the British Commonwealth correspondents were inadvertently overlooked when the press party for the mock invasion was made up.

Correspondents of the Reuters News Agency and Agence France-Presse were invited and did go on the mock invasion.

Some British correspondents said that an order barring foreigners from boarding American warships while under way was issued some months ago in Washington by Admiral William Fechtler chief of U.S. naval rations.

General Clark's headquarters said they were not aware of any such order if it had been issued. The U.S. navy in the Korean war is under the direct command of General Clark.

In their protest, the correspondents asked immediate cancellation of "this discriminatory and unworthy treatment which is a direct insult to the society of nations known as the British Commonwealth, second only to the United States in its representation" in Korea.

Mr. Massey adds his signature to the City Hall guest book, which also contains the signatures of Queen Elizabeth, Prince Philip, the Queen Mother and the late King George VI. Signing took place yesterday when His Excellency visited City Hall to meet Victoria aldermen and representatives of other Island councils. Cubs' Caps Fly To Hail Massey

Several small crowds greeted Governor - General Vincent Massey yesterday during his first official tour of Victoria.

Canada's first native-born governor-general received his most enthusiastic welcome at a Scout-Cub rally in the Bay Street Armory. More than 1,600 boys turned out.

The governor-general's tour started at 11.30 a.m. when he formally opened the new home of the Greater Victoria Arts Centre on Moss Street.

His Excellency was greeted by Ronald Grant, Arts Centre president, Miss Sara Spencer, vice-president and donor of the building, and curator Colin Graham.

Miss Spencer presented the governor-general with a golden key, with which he unlocked the door.

In a short address, His Excellency thanked Miss Spencer for "the magnificent gift" of her former home as a permanent art centre.

Later, at the Bay Street Armory, His Excellency reviewed 400 Boy Scouts and 1,200 Wolf Cubs and talked with Scout and Cub leaders.

He left the armory to lusty cheers and a flurry of Cub caps.

After lunch His Excellency visited City Hall.

The governor-general was greeted by Mayor Claude Harrison.

His Excellency sketched the history of Victoria as a naval base and trading port. More important, he said, "this city has been a centre of law, learning and civilization. You have harbored schools and colleges as well as ships. Your homes have encouraged music and welcomed art. Here truly is the vigor of a new world, softened by the memory of the old."

At the Legislative Buildings, the governor-general was greeted by a 21-gun salute and reviewed a navy honor guard and band.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett presented an illuminated address of welcome. In reply His Excellency said he had been impressed with "the vital and overwhelming importance of British Columbia in its relation to Canada as a whole."

The governor-general will spend today visiting naval establishments. Tomorrow he leaves for a quiet, three-day holiday at the H. R. MacMillan residence at Qualicum. He will return to Victoria Sunday night, and leave at midnight for Prince Rupert.

Mayhew Appointed Ambassador to Japan

OTTAWA, Oct. 15 (CP)—Hon. Robert Mayhew, 72-year-old minister of fisheries, was appointed today as Canada's first ambassador to Japan and two British Columbia Liberal members were named to the cabinet.

James Sinclair, 44-year-old parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister D. C. Abbott and member for Coast-Capilano, was appointed to succeed Mr. Mayhew as fisheries minister.

(See James K. Nesbitt's article on the Mayhews on Page 19.)

Ralph Campney, 58, parliamentary assistant to Defense Minister Claxton and member for Vancouver Centre, was named solicitor general, a post now held by Justice Minister Garson.

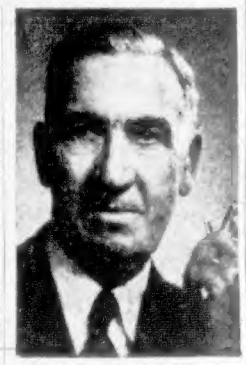
Prime Minister St. Laurent, announcing the changes at a press conference, said British Columbia's increase in population justified increasing the province's representation in the cabinet to two from one. Mr. Mayhew represented Victoria.

Mr. St. Laurent made these other points:

Mr. Mayhew agreed to forego retirement from public life to accept appointment to Japan where Canada's representative in pre-war years held the rank of minister.

No other changes in the 21-man cabinet are contemplated and there may not be any before the next election.

The date of the election has not been picked. Speculation has it Monday, October 5, 1953.



HON. ROBERT MAYHEW

Mr. Mayhew's appointment will become effective November 15. His departure will leave one vacancy in the Commons.

Mr. St. Laurent described Mr. Mayhew's appointment as one which has "delighted" the Japanese and which gives Canada an envoy who has great knowledge of trade and other problems between the two countries.

Mr. Mayhew was one of Canada's representatives at the conference which settled the peace treaty with Japan. He helped to shape a Canada-United States-Japanese fishing treaty.

A British Columbia business man, Mr. Mayhew has been contemplating retirement for some time. He has been a member of the Commons since 1937 and of the cabinet since 1948.

Chinese Reds Mowed Down In Assaults

SEOUL, Oct. 16 (Thursday) (AP)—United States machine-gunners cut down Chinese Reds at barbed-wire barricades during two battalion assaults by the Communists up Triangle Hill last night. Nearby, South Koreans were knocked off the key height of honeycombed Sniper Ridge but won it back today.

Deadly infantry fighting raged into its third straight day north of Kumhwa in central Korea where American and South Korean soldiers battled to hold newly-won hills.

On Triangle Hill, the U.S. 7th Division threw up barbed wire then poured devastating machine gun fire as the Reds twice hurled forces of 1,000 men at the position.

Signal Failed To Halt Train

LONDON, Oct. 15 (Reuters)—Signalman Alfred Armitage testified today that the Scottish express involved in last week's triple train disaster did not obey his signals.

He testified at the transport ministry's inquiry into the crash in which 111 persons were killed or have since died in hospital.

Green Not Guilty In Gas Death Case

William Green, 750 Queens, was acquitted of a charge of manslaughter yesterday. An assize Court jury took 15 minutes to bring in a verdict.

Mr. Green had been charged in connection with the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Birch, who died July 15 of asphyxiation caused by escaping gas in her room.

The accused said earlier yesterday that he had installed a pipe later found to be defective. He said he used a length of second-hand galvanized pipe he had stored in the basement.

After hearing the verdict, Mr. Justice A. D. McFarlane said he felt the trial had "served the purpose of bringing to the attention of the authorities the need for regulations in these things."

TESTED WORK

George Gregory, defense counsel, summed up his case by claiming Green made all the ordinary and proper tests after the installation was made. A crack in the pipe apparently escaped his notice, but tests showed no leak at the time, he said.

Gordon Cameron, Crown counsel, based the prosecution's case on the use of a second-hand piece of pipe, which certain witnesses stated should not have been used.

On the witness stand, the accused said he felt a nail-inch pipe would be adequate, as Mrs. Birch never used more than two burners at a time.

"Carpet-Bagger Methods" Charged to Council

Saanich municipality brought down its "iron heel" and resorted to "carpet-bagger methods" in ending a work stoppage at Colquitz Creek Bridge, union spokes Victor Midgley charged last night.

"I was amazed at Saanich council's action against peaceful picketing. It reminded me of carpet-baggers' methods," he told the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council.

Mr. Midgley is international representative of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America (A.F.L.-T.L.C.), and for the bridgemen's local of that union.

He suggeested that the Trades and Labor Council seek legislation to curtail free use of injunctions against picketing.

No labor council action was taken.

The municipality had obtained an injunction restraining picketing during the dispute over jurisdiction and pay rates on the bridge job.

There were no negotiations, the municipality used "iron heel methods" one man was fired and the municipality showed itself as anti-labor and anti-union, Mr. Midgley said.

The speaker also declared that "council should be ashamed of spending the taxpayers' money, and not only on that job."

"They are employing at the lousiest wages I've seen in a long time," he said.

"When they made vicious attacks on us, council was not concerned with the taxpayers, nor were their moves taken in the interest of economy," he continued.

"Estimates by my organization show that bridge construction will cost $1,000 more by municipal workers than it would by our skilled members," Mr. Midgley added.

Saanich Tuesday night endorsed action taken in settlement of the dispute, which reinstated one suspended employee. Council also authorized making up of seven hours' lost pay.

Ship Aground; Crew All Safe

RIVERTON, Man., Oct. 15 (CP)—Six crew members and a woman cook reached shore safely today after the fish freighter J. R. Spear went aground 25 miles north of here on the west shore of Lake Winnipeg.

The 70-foot vessel grounded early today while battling a lake storm. The federal government's Mv. Bradbury was reported to be standing by and would attempt to free the freighter, Thursday.

Alberta Cities Counting First Uniform Election

EDMONTON, Oct. 15 (CP) — Thousands of voters in six Alberta ridings today trooped to the polls in the first uniform civic elections ever held in the province.

The uniform elections, called for under the new city act, were held in Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Red Deer and Wetaskiwin. A seventh city, Drumheller, filled all its civic posts by acclamation.

There were mayoralty contests in two centres, Wetaskiwin and Medicine Hat. Elsewhere there were aldermanic contests, plus money by-laws in Edmonton and Lethbridge.

By late tonight all cities had elected slates except Calgary, which has a proportional representation system of voting. Only one alderman was elected out of 12 who are contesting six council vacancies. The counting is expected to finish early tomorrow.

At Medicine Hat, business man Harry Veiner won the mayoralty contest in a three-way fight over mayor Wilson Riley and Harry C. Leinweber.

The Wetaskiwin voters returned C. D. Enman as mayor, after a six-year retirement from a long career in municipal politics.

Parties Want Mayhew Seat

If a by-election is called to fill the parliamentary vacancy left by Fisheries Minister Robert Mayhew's appointment as ambassador to Japan, it will probably be a four-way fight, Victoria political spokesmen indicated last night.

"The Social Credit Party would definitely contest the by-election if one was called," a party official said.

A Liberal spokesman said that Byron Johnson and Nancy Hodges, Victoria M.L.A.-elect, would probably be drafted by Liberal groups to appear before a nominating convention if a by-election was called.

C.C.F. and Progressive Conservative officials indicated that they would contest the by-election but neither suggested possible candidates.

Loss of Mr. Mayhew as Victoria's parliamentary representative in Ottawa was widely regretted in the city's business circles yesterday and some business men set up a call for an early by-election to give the city representation.

Tom Denny, president of the Chamber of Commerce, declared: "Everything he has gone after has been for the betterment of Victoria. He is the right man for any big job."

"We are glad this honor has come to Mr. Mayhew," added George H. Wheaton, vice-president of the chamber.

At the same time, Mr. Wheaton said the departure of Mr. Mayhew from the government was a loss which even an early by-election in Victoria could not wholly restore.

"Nothing we ever asked him to do for us was too much trouble. Our affairs were kept well in the forefront at Ottawa," Mr. Wheaton said.

Another Chamber of Commerce director felt that with two new cabinet ministers in Vancouver the province would still have a strong voice in Ottawa, but was insistent that Victoria should not be allowed to remain long unrepresented there.

Strike Ordered Unless Mines Raise Royalty

CINCINNATI, Oct. 15 (AP)—John L. Lewis today told members of the United Mine Workers to refuse to go to work November 18 unless mine operators have made their increased royalty payments to the union welfare fund by that date.

A recent contract between the union and U.S. operators calls for an increase in the royalty payments to 40 cents from 30 cents a ton. The contract, also calling for a wage increase of $1.90 a day, is now before the wage stabilization board.

The union's 41st convention ended in an apparent determination to stage a coal industry strike unless the government approves the wage boost already agreed upon by the industry.

More than 4,000 miners have quit their jobs in scattered mines in West Virginia, Illinois, Ohio and Kentucky because pay cheques failed to include the raise. Miners are expected to walk out in other mines as their paydays come along if they do not receive the new $18.25 daily rate.

Saanich Dowser Makes Best Find

Saanich water diviner Tom Amos, caretaker at Braefoot Farms, Telegraph Road, saw his 131st well brought in this week and figures it is about the finest in 20 years' dowsing.

He described the new well as a genuine artesian—rare on the Saanich peninsula. It was drilled on the Braefoot Farm location he picked out after testing the area with a divining "rod" made out of clothes line wire.

The water diviner—or dowser—said he couldn't use the more customary willow rod because wooden rods broke in his hands when he went water seeking.

Yesterday water from the new well was overflowing the casing and running down into the seashore meadows on the Braefoot Farm.

Born in Staffordshire, Eng., in 1885, Mr. Amos came to the Saanich area in 1909 and started his search for needed water in that area 20 years ago.

He got into the game by accident when a friend from California came at Amos' request to dowse for a likely spot to drill for water.

On impulse the Saanich man took the divining rod and discovered it immediately became alive in his hand. As it turned out, he could locate more water, faster, than the California man.

Since that date he has located 131 wells, he estimates, in the Okanagan, and parts of Vancouver Island. But most of his dowsing has been right in Saanich where his water finds have played a part in that area's agricultural prosperity.

The list of Amos' finds includes an 18-foot flowing well near Oyama in the Okanagan through which young trout came swimming—apparently by way of an underground stream from a mountain lake.

The Saanich dowser uses any kind of wire for his water quests, twisting it into the convention "Y" shape for the job. He has never had a complete failure, he reports, though on rare occasions wells dug at his orders have contained only comparatively small amounts of water.

This has occurred on rocky ground, he reported, and he believes it may be an indication that the divining instrument is capable of reacting to minerals and thus got more agitated than the amount of water justified.

No explanation for his powers can be given by the well finder, though he is certain the ability to find water is a natural gift, not a stunt that can be learned.

The instrument he uses oscillates up and down when over water, he said, and will swing to right or left if he wanders away from the course of the underground waterway.

He prefers to work alone since the use of the diviner requires considerable concentration, he says, and he doesn't like to waste time—with three or four calls for help coming in every week and two or three jobs to be done on any given week end.

Certain of his ability to locate water deep underground—the latest well was drilled to 90 feet—he is pretty dubious about the chance of locating oil by divination.

And though bubbling over with enthusiasm for his latest find, he was anxious to point out there have been and are other successful well finders in the Saanich area.

Nowadays he shares the field with dowser Elmer Johns, Lands End.

So if the well runs dry, help is at hand. Or you might try twisting up the clothes line and nosing around yourself. Either way—don't go thirsty.

Sailors of Ontario Win Chile's Heart

Special to The Daily Colonist

ABOARD H.M.C.S. ONTARIO—Canadians will always be welcome from now on at the South American port of Valparaiso, Chile. Credit for cementing the relationship between the two countries can go to officers and men of this Canadian cruiser.

During a five-day visit at the seaport the Canadian sailors did a job that tourist agencies and other organizations have been trying to do for months. The appeal to "please return soon" was heard from many people who flocked to bid farewell to the men.

For example, 25-year-old seaman Charles Moore, of Victoria started the police force of Valparaiso drinking coffee the Canadian way. "Chuck" was stationed for several nights at the police station with the shore patrol. He said the police officers there were amazed at the idea of putting cream or milk with the brew and adding a touch of salt to improve the flavor.

The policemen also complimented senior officers of the ship for the fine way in which members of the crew behaved themselves while in port. Similar tributes were paid in editorial columns of all leading newspapers in Valparaiso.

Shortly after the cruiser sailed from the Chilean port Capt. E. P. Tisdall received a telegram from Leon Mayrand, Canadian ambassador in the country, who said: "Please accept for yourself and all your officers and men the expression of our pride and gratitude for your magnificent contribution to the cause of Canadian-Chilean friendship."

The Ontario is now en route "down" the coast of South America. At the request of the Chilean navy she will make a special stop next week at the port of Punta Arenas—the most southern city of the world.

Weekly Editors Start Convention Today

The men who bring the news to rural British Columbia are meeting in Victoria this week.

Registration starts this morning for the 34th annual convention of the B.C. division of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association scheduled for October 16 to 18 at the Empress Hotel.

More than 100 persons are expected to attend the meeting with 40 of the 60 member newspapers throughout the province represented. The papers serve an estimated 500,000 people in B.C.

Present-day problems of publishing country weekly newspapers and new ideas for improved service to rural communities will occupy the attention of the weekly newspaper editors.

Victor Ball, retiring president and publisher of the Fernie Free Press, is chairman of the annual meeting. He will be succeeded in office by W. L. Griffith, publisher of Cariboo Observer at Quesnel, now first vice-president of the association and chairman of the convention.

Friday convention luncheon will be sponsored by the B.C. Electric Co. with Prof. E. D. McPhee, head of the University of British Columbia department of commerce as chief speaker.

Stuart Keate, Victoria publisher, will be guest speaker at the annual banquet at 7.30 p.m., Friday.

Among newspaper men from outside the province attending the convention are Herbert A. Sandison, Toronto, manager of Class "A" Weekly Newspapers of Canada, and Robert Moore, co-publisher of the Swift Current Sun, and president of the C.W.N.A.

Open forum on front office, editorial and business problems of weekly newspapering will be heard at 2 p.m., Friday and election of officers will be held at 4 p.m.

Sixth annual meeting of the B.C. Weekly Newspapers Advertising Bureau will be held on Saturday starting at 10 a.m. in conjunction with the editors' convention.

Of 18 cities and towns flooded by the rain-swollen Grijalva River and its tributaries, eight still are cut off. Officials estimate the crop loss at $95,000,000.

City Tax Collections Higher Than Last Year

City tax collections have reached 90.27 per cent of the total levy to date, a slight edge over last year's 90.18 per cent at the same time.

Payment of arrears has taken a big jump with 64.45 per cent collected to date as compared to 59.23 per cent for the same period last year.

Mayor Claude Harrison said yesterday the high tax collection indicated a "strong confidence of the public in the city's administration."

Carpenters May Seek Holiday Pay Increase

An amendment to legislation providing that holiday pay be increased two per cent may be sought by the Provincial Council of Carpenters (T.L.C.).

Present legislation provides that two per cent be paid. The council may seek an increase to four per cent.

A resolution to that effect is expected for the council's 12th annual convention at Vancouver on November 20, E. T. Staley, secretary of the carpenters' union, said yesterday.

Victoria local 1598 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) has submitted a resolution proposing changes in the Apprenticeship Act. The resolution has been endorsed by Vancouver Island District Council of Carpenters.

ANNUAL EXAMS

The proposed change would require apprentices to pass annual examinations during their four-year learning period. It also would entail employers keeping track of activities of apprentices in regard to type of work. Co-ordination of training also would be sought between night school classes and actual employment, so that an apprentice would be engaged on work which is studied at classes.

A joint resolution from Local 1598 and Victoria Building Industries Exchange Ltd. is to be submitted. Both organizations feel that in the interest of the carpentry trade and as an inducement to school boys to undertake apprenticeship in the trade as soon as their schooling is completed, employment of the youths should be allowed during July and August.

Only minors majoring in carpentry trade at technical units in Greater Victoria area would be included in the special employment authority sought, it was reported.

Also concerning apprentices, the council convention will be asked to seek approval for transfer of apprentices among different contractors to assure diversity of work. The arrangement could be completed only through agreement of contractors concerned, it was noted.

Approximately 40 delegates from 32 locals are expected at the convention. Representation would be included from Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, where a basic rate of $2.30 an hour has been established recently for carpenters.

Egypt, Sudan Work on Plans

LONDON, Oct. 15 (AP)—Egypt and the Sudan have cleared the way for an important multi-million-dollar program to develop the waters of the Nile River, it was learned officially Tuesday.

They agreed on several irrigation schemes to harness the vital river for power and to extend cultivation in both territories by millions of acres. British officials saw in the agreement an indication that Premier Mohamed Naguib's three-month-old regime seems more anxious to live together with the Sudanese people than to argue about their future status.

Egypt has wanted to annex the 1,000,000-square mile Sudan. Britain insisted the Sudanese be given the right to choose their own future as an independent state, part of Egypt or as a dominion in the British Commonwealth.

New Officers To Be Chosen By Socreds

General meeting and election of officers of the Saanich Constituency Association of the B.C. Social Credit League will be held in the Lake Hill Women's Institute Hall next Tuesday, October 21.

The meeting originally had been scheduled for last night.

Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan will address the meeting.

Reorganization of Sewer Project Proposed in Saanich Municipality

Reorganization of the Saanich municipal sewer project has been proposed.

At the same time, the executive of the Saanich Municipal Employees' Association will be asked to meet the council in regard to a recent work stoppage at Admirals Road bridge over Colquitz Creek.

Possibility of a similar work stoppage on other municipal projects also has been foreseen.

The three points arose from Tuesday's council meeting. Reorganization of the sewer project was suggested by Councillor Roy H. Wootten. "Men and machines are idle, apparently not making any progress and resulting in a waste of taxpayers' money," he told council.

He recommended that a new superintendent of sewers be hired.

Clr. G. Stanley Eden reported he had also received complaints and added that "undoubtedly" there has been delay in the project.

IMPROVE SYSTEM

Municipal engineer H. D. Dawson reported that reorganization is scheduled to improve the system.

The entire matter was left with Reeve Joseph Casey, who is to report to council next Monday.

Council concurred with action taken by Acting Reeve H. K. Bate and Clrs. Roy Wootten and G. Stanley Eden to settle a dispute at Colquitz Creek bridge work.

Employees on the bridge work were granted pay increases for the particular job after the Bridgemen's Union (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) placed a picket line on the job, claiming jurisdiction and that the work should have been theirs. Municipal rates had not been equal to the union rates for the particular work.

Council passed a motion asking that the employees' association executive meet the council and discuss the one-day work stoppage.

DISSATISFIED

Dissatisfaction, however, was indicated by Reeve Joseph Casey, who said the problem had nothing to do with the union. The employees had an agreement with the municipality and had seen fit to disregard it, he complained.

Possibility that such an occurrence might be repeated was seen by the reeve, who said that sidewalk work such as cribbing, being done by municipal employees and within jurisdiction of carpenters, might also result in a picket line due to wage differences.

Wage rate problems also might be raised, it was learned later, in regard to some workers on the sewer project.

Men employed on the project at the time an agreement was signed last April are receiving higher pay rates than some other men employed on "specialists work" since the signing. Men employed since the agreement are not within the municipal employees' association and could, conceivably be taken into a union other than the association, resulting in bargaining for these employees and demands for wages higher than at present received.

The course will deal with medical requirements of civil defense in the event of atomic, bacteriological or chemical warfare.

Dd. Anderson is deputy director of Victoria defense services and chairman of the hospital's civil defense committee.

Red Congress Told War Switch Possible

MOSCOW, Oct. 15 (AP)—A Russian deputy prime minister said today that the U.S.S.R. can convert its peacetime industry to a war basis in a short time and turn out everything needed for its army and navy.

In one of the closing speeches of the 19th All-Union Communist Party Congress, deputy prime minister V. A. Malyshev, a colonel-general of engineers and minister of the shipbuilding industry, told 1,200 delegates:

"If the imperialists foist war upon us, then the engineering workers will be ready at the first appeal of comrade Stalin and [illegible] organize their peaceful production and launch, on short schedules, mass production of all types of first-class armaments and material in quantities sufficient for complete equipping of the Soviet army and navy."

In a similar tone, veteran Bolshevik K. E. Voroshilov, a marshal of the Soviet army, said that "never before has our motherland been so great and powerful, so full of the forces of life and creative energy as she is now."

Other speakers included I. T. Tevosyan, minister of ferrous metallurgy, and A. N. Kosygin, youngest member of the politburo and a light industry specialist.

Kosygin said light industry output in the U.S.S.R. would be 43 per cent higher in 1952 than in prewar years, adding that "we observe a quite different picture in capitalistic countries."

The business of the congress, which opened October 5, wound up with the selection of a central committee of 125 members and 110 alternates, biggest in party history.

Upon its selection, the central committee turned at once to consideration of the naming of its own ruling praesidium to replace the present political bureau as the leading authority of the U.S.S.R.

All 12 present members of the politburo, headed by Stalin, are members of the central committee and are expected to be on the praesidium.

Gromyko Asks Early Debate Of Korea Case

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 15 (CP)—Andrei Gromyko of Russia tonight demanded that Korea be discussed as soon as possible by the United Nations General Assembly.

His proposal would bring a Korean debate prior to the United States election November 4 something the Western Allies have been trying to avoid.

The surprise move by the Soviet deputy foreign minister was made in the Assembly steering committee, headed by L. B. Pearson, Canada's external affairs minister.

Pearson pointed out that the political committee itself, where the Korean item will be first discussed, has the right to decide on the order it takes up the various items.

Meanwhile, State Secretary Dean Acheson of the U.S. was reported to have toned down the Korean section of the speech he will deliver in the general debate tomorrow or Friday.

A high diplomatic source said that Acheson, in tempering his remarks, is heeding the suggestions of allies of the U.S. and of Asian-Arab delegates.

Canadian Defense Orders Boosted by $93,000,000

OTTAWA, Oct. 15 (CP)—The Canadian government poured $93,000,000 worth of defense contracts into Canadian industry in the last two weeks of September, the defense production department announced today.

Biggest commitment in recent months, it was built up mainly by a $66,600,000 order for hundreds of Orenda jet engines to be manufactured by A. V. Roe Limited at Malton, Ont., for Sabres under construction at the expanding Canadair Ltd., plant at Montreal.

Production Minister C. D. Howe made the contract public when he recently opened the new plant for the production of the Canadian-built engine. Just how many engines the government will get for $66,600,000 is a military secret, but it is understood the Orenda may cost roughly $100,000 each, giving the government about 600.

Canadair currently has contracts to produce more than 1,000 Sabres, including large numbers for the R.C.A.F. and about 370 as a Canadian government mutuaal aid gift to the R.A.F.

TAPER OFF

Fitted into the Sabre is an American-made jet engine which the government imports. Once the Orendas start flowing to Canadair, expected about mid-1953, purchases of jet engines from the U.S. likely will taper off.

Included among other big defense contracts during the latter half of September were three orders for flexible cantilever hangars for the R.C.A.F., totaling $10,500,000; a $2,000,000 aircraft repair order; and $1,500,000 contract to produce an aircraft training device.

Prisoners In Europe To Benefit

WINNIPEG, Oct. 15 (CP).—Canadian ex-prisoners of war held in European camps are entitled to the same benefits as those imprisoned in Japan under war claims payments announced by the federal government, J. W. [illegible] Manitoba Ex-Prisoner of War Association, said tonight.

Mr. Meyers said he had asked the department of veterans' affairs at Ottawa to clarify the payments after protests were received from a number of Manitobans held in German and Italian camps during the Second World War.

The rate of payment was set at $1 a day with a maximum of $1,400 or a lump sum, if maltreatment could be proved. The ex-prisoner can choose the basis of payment.

Hong Kong ex-prisoners and those held by German troops declared criminals will receive automatic benefits on the time basis. Other ex-prisoners must apply to a war claims office to be set up shortly.

Cowhands, Cattle Making Long Drive

QUESNEL, B.C., Oct. 15 (CP).—Five weeks back Floyd Phillips' outfit struck out for Quesnel with 150 head of white-face cattle, wild as deer and fat for market.

There's no way of keeping in touch with them, but they should be getting close to the end of what is believed to be the longest modern-day cattle drive in North America.

Oldtimers here estimated today that Phillips and his cowpokes, carrying a mighty thirst and riding on footsore mounts, will arrive Sunday or Monday.

Behind them will be 300 miles of travel, through muskeg, over rocky terrain and across two ranges of mountains.

Phillips' ranch is in the Anahim country of British Columbia's vast interior. As the drive draws closer to Quesnel, other trail herds from the Nazko and Blackwater grazing lands will join it.

The enlarged drive will pour into the outskirts of this Cariboo rail town in time for the annual Quesnel cattle sale, October 21, where thousands of head will be up for auction this year.

If Phillips' men can combine their skill with spectacular luck, they'll arrive with the full 150 head.

Nobody, though, is counting on that.

Red Editors Held in France

BORDEAUX, France, Oct. 15 (AP).—Two directors of the Communist newspaper Les Nouvelles de Bordeaux, have been arrested and charged with provoking pillage. The charge was an outgrowth of a Communist sacking of the U.S. Information Service office here last May. The newspaper published a story calling the raid "a victory for France." The directors are Henri Bordage and Raoul Martinez.

Stalin Confirms Subversive Aims

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

BY J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP News Analyst

Josef Stalin has made official something that the world has recognized for some time—that the Kremlin intends to continue to intensify its subversive efforts in other countries.

In published instructions to Soviet agents, the value of strikes, confusion of thought and obstruction of democratic processes is still the major theme, and political conquest the major aim.

Stalin promises "support" of Communist parties in other countries, but with a subtle warning that they won't get it unless they go down the line for Russia. He emphasizes the importance of such movements as those in France and Italy to win people to the idea that the Soviet Union is the centre of peace and the hope of human equality, and that they must refuse to fight if their governments become involved in war with Russia.

MOSTLY WORDS

Just what Kremlin "support" for Communist parties in other countries may consist of these days is not entirely clear. In the United States, at least, it appears to consist largely of words. The Soviets have been behind a trade barrier for some time now, and they must be pretty short on assets for any expensive campaigns.

The New York Daily Worker, for instance, is at this moment engaged in a campaign for donations to keep going. The American party, obviously, is having a hard time, financially.

What the Kremlin spends on its U.S. spy network is, of course, not known, but most of those apprehended so far have turned out to be mostly suckers for a neurotic ideological line.

Stalin's promise may be, at least in part, merely words of cheer for Communist parties abroad. They have been steadily losing influence for many years.

Miners Strike Over Delays

CINCINNATI, Oct. 15 (AP).—More than 4,000 coal miners in four states are on strike today in protest over wages and contract provisions—all tied to the $1.90-a-day pay increase the wage stabilization board is considering. Workers are out in mines in Illinois, Kentucky, West Virginia and Ohio. The strike came as a protest over a delay in board approval of the pay increase granted by operators.

Boy May Have Clue To Fate of Cruiser

LONDON, Oct. 15 (Nana-Kemnews)—After years of research, a boy who hopes to make a career in the navy has found evidence that may clear up the mystery of the cruiser Sydney, which vanished without a trace off the coast of Australia in 1941.

Desmond Wettern, of Oxted, Surrey, is the boy whose hobby has been the Sydney mystery. Recently he advertised in German papers, and has now received a letter from the captain of a German raider that was sunk in the action against the Sydney.

The German captain, Theodor Detmers, of Hamburg-Rahlstedt, writes:

"As you suppose, I have an account of the action 'Sydney v. Kormoran' which was written shortly after by myself and brought through intact although I was a prisoner of war in Australia.

"You may have this on one condition, that is, that I can have the diary I kept on board the Kormoran, or a copy. That should be easy, as the British Admiralty have it and it contains no secrets.

"In return for this I will send you my full account of the action."

Wettern said: "I have always been interested in naval affairs, and the exact fate of the Sydney has been my hobby for years.

"I have never been satisfied that in modern days a ship of that size, and reasonably near the coast, could disappear without survivors or trace.

"I am sending this letter to the Admiralty in the hope that they will return the diary to Germany in exchange for information which will bring their records up to date."

Wettern is due to join the navy for his national service. "I want to settle this puzzle before I go. Later I hope to join the navy permanently."

Said an Admiralty official: "The whole matter will be considered carefully, but it is very unusual to hand over souvenirs captured from the enemy."

Liquor Control

NOTHING short of a complete recasting of the Government Liquor Act, to get rid of its obvious absurdities and bring it up to date with today's conditions, will likely satisfy the electors who on June 12 turned thumbs down on the present system in no uncertain terms. It is true that the plebiscite was vague, but the electors expressed their wish nevertheless. In our view, that was for continued control by the province, perpetuation of the local option principle, and for a complete overhauling of the present regulations by statute. The provincial inquiry now sitting on the subject will no doubt gather first-hand data as to what the electors want; and it is inevitable that there will be some divergences there, because not all people think alike on this issue.

The abuses are in clearer ground. The beer-parlor monopoly, bulk sales of spirits for consumption "in a private place," and the impossibility of securing food on the same premises, never did make much sense and do not now. Around most of the civilized world patrons of hotels and established restaurants may order beer and light wines with their meals, can enter a cocktail bar for a single glass without having to take home a case of spirits, and on the level of the general public can have a meal with a glass of beer if they feel so disposed. In B.C. a premium is still put on secrecy, sham and an impossible effort to change peoples' tastes by legislation. Without extremes either way, it should be possible to improve greatly on the present system, because all it is perpetuating is a condition of legalized fraud which satisfies no one.

It will be for the public to suggest more specifically what it does want, and this it will now have the opportunity of doing before the inquiring panel. It may be that the resultant redrafting of the Government Liquor Act will be a compromise between opposing views, but it can be a much better one than the present outdated instrument. For the sake of good government itself the present beer monopoly must go, and something saner and more practical must be devised to take its place. Moderation and modification seem to be the needs, and the means can be found if they are sought. It may be that greater dependence on licensing control, perhaps through local licensing boards which once served the purpose well, will be found in part the answer. But whatever is done to change the present statute local option will have to be continued to preserve the peoples' right to choose, not in blank but directly, what type of law they will support.

A Dangerous Oversight

EVIDENCE adduced during a trial in the Assize Court in Victoria this week established the astonishing fact, testified by witnesses who are in the best position to know, that the installation of household appliances using domestic gas is not governed by regulations or by-laws of any kind. If this is an oversight on the part of the authorities, it should be remedied as quickly as possible. In these days of restrictions and regulations governing the standard of workmanship in various trades, it is remarkable that a matter so important to public safety should have escaped notice.

Domestic gas is a dangerous commodity—much more so in fact than most other fuels because it is a potential cause of asphyxiation as well as of fire and explosion. A British Columbia statute establishes a rigid code of inspection for all electrical installations, and oil burning equipment and storage facilities are subject to equally strict regulation under the jurisdiction of the provincial fire marshal. It is peculiar that work done on appliances using a lethal and explosive gas should be left free from official supervision.

A large number of rooming houses and apartments in Victoria are serviced with gas for heating and cooking, and many of these are occupied by elderly people whose sensitiveness to the smell of escaping gas may be impaired. No amount of regulation can eliminate the dangers caused by carelessness on the part of householders themselves, but at the very least they should have assurance that gas-burning appliances were properly installed in the first place.

Honoring a King

LAST week the King George VI Memorial Fund was opened in Great Britain. The immediate response was overwhelming, ranging from single contributions of $30,000 from a business concern to 50 cents from a schoolgirl and including a pensioner's donation of a pound for each year of life. The memorial will take the form of a stone statue and a foundation for the welfare of young and elderly people.

Indicative of the interest aroused throughout the Commonwealth is the suggestion in New Zealand that part of that country's contributions to the fund should be used to preserve historic British houses as homes for the care of young and old. Elsewhere individuals and organizations have either contributed directly or are making arrangements for their own supplementary funds.

It is surprising that no official notice has been taken in Canada of the King George VI Fund, even by way of suggesting how people in this country may participate. Many Canadians undoubtedly will want to be associated with this remembrance of a monarch so genuinely loved and respected. Yet no lead of any kind has been given by authorities throughout the Dominion who must be perfectly well aware that such a memorial appeal is under way.

Canada will belittle herself if she does not act to join with other parts of the Commonwealth in honoring the king who once walked with grace among her people.

The Issue in Essence

PREMIER Stalin has pledged Russian support to Communist parties all over the world in a fight for "liberation." That is to say, he offers to help renegades in other lands to upset their own government and way of life in order that Communism might spread its baleful plight. With a cynicism unmatched in history the Russian dictator thus invites treason in other lands.

In essence this is the proper description of Communist activity. Some woolly heads still confuse real peace with the "peace" mouthed by Communists and fellow travelers, but these latter are bent only on working for the benefit of Russia and the system it would impose on all the world.

The issue is as simple as that, although Soviet aims are so barefaced and colossal in scope that some otherwise sober people seem unable to grasp their full import. If it could, Russia would put Canada and other western lands in the kind of chains that Communist "liberation" means, the despotic rule that holds half-a-dozen once free European nations in an iron grip.

Such is the long-reaching plan of the Kremlin, and those active Communists outside the iron curtain who are its agents are either witting or unwitting traitors to their homelands.

COURTESY APPRECIATED

Sir,—We are two elderly women tourists from Washington and read today your editorial on "Bad Manners at the Circus." Will you let us say a good word for the good manners at this same point? We have used the "Circle" twice or thrice daily and have been most favorably impressed by the courtesy of drivers, particularly of the bus drivers. Possibly an explanation of how to use this approach might be helpful, but let's give credit to the many who have shown good manners, even if you feel censure is necessary for the bad.

SCALPING CURRENCY

Sir,—You will probably recall the order issued to the Post Office in Victoria some time ago re the American money problem, which was the subject of one of your editorials roundly condemning the Canadian government for "passing the buck" (no pun intended) by taking American silver at par and passing it out again to the public at large.

The Victoria Post Office has now come up with something far superior to that scurvy stratagem.

My wife sent a parcel one day last week and received an American nickel in change. Adding two cents to the aforesaid nickel she asked for a seven-cent airmail stamp at the stamp wicket. The girl in charge demanded and received an extra cent. Asked why, she said she had received orders to discount all American money and one cent was the least she could take.

My wife informed her that she had just received the nickel in change at the parcel wicket, and in any case the discount amounted to 20%. The girl said she "was sorry."

What is our government coming to, when it passes out currency at par at one wicket and takes it back at the next at a 20% discount?

A government that has the gall to perpetrate tricks like that should'nt throw up its hands in holy horror at the mere mention of lotteries.

R. J. PRING.

OBJECTIONABLE READING

Sir,—Who is behind the flood of filthy, sexy literature one finds on practically every newsstand in the country, and when is the government going to do something about it? It is not much use prohibiting importations of this kind of rubbish if Canadian firms are allowed to produce and distribute it at will.

It is high time decent people did something about this menace to our young people. A lead from the churches, and from such responsible organizations as the Masons, Rotarians, Kiwanis, Lions, etc., and the women's organizations and Parent-Teachers Associations would do much towards making the government move in the matter.

"Where did everybody go?"

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

TWO comments came to hand about the national Community Chest broadcast of recent lamentable memory. Says a Cobble Hill man:

"How right you are . . . I was fed up with it too. We Canadians suffer from an inferiority complex badly, and if we don't do something about it soon we may wake up some day to find that we are an annex of the U.S.A."

Which, of course, heaven forbid.

A Victoria rural route reader adds his view, to wit: "The poor stuff we get from over the border, although acclaimed by the millions, ought not to appeal to Canadian ears; when we have such fine entertainers right on our own door step."

Which, of course, we have.

* * *

Imagine! There are just (?) shopping days until Christmas, which is by way of saying that the days, weeks, months and years slip by at an alarming pace. As the clown said to Hamlet, "age with his stealing steps hath claw'd me in his clutch."

Claw'd all of us, of course, I mean.

As I noted here not so long back, none of us likes to be thought old, hence henna rinses, polka dot bow ties and short haircuts. Apropos of which a lady who says that if she followed the Grecian fashion of counting age from marriage and not birth she would be just sweet seventeen, opines that it's all a matter of relativity.

"There is something admirable, maybe, about remaining a Peter Pan," she writes, "but it would certainly jar you to find old school friends doddering while you yourself were skipping around."

Would it? This is one of those experiences, owning a million dollars cold cash is another, which I would like very much to sample if only for a short time.

But, of course, I won't.

Anyway, as Stephen Leacock said: "Old age is the 'Front Line' of life, moving into No Man's Land." Which should be something for us all to look forward to.

* * *

Talking about front lines brings me to a letter from, I think, a lady reader, who deplores the detailed accounts of prize fights that appear in the newspapers. The particular reference is to the recent Marciano-Walcott bout.

My correspondent is in the habit of sending the Colonist to Korea, but this particular issue she didn't think suitable for the troops there.

Prize fighting, of course, is hardly an elevating business.

In fact it can be downright brutal, albeit the harm caused to the combatants is not always so severe as ringside pictures would imply. Nevertheless, while it may be sad to contemplate it's probably true that most readers lap up all the gory details of a prize fight with relish. And I'm afraid that by not sending the paper to Korea my correspondent disappointed the troops who would have read it.

Actually, you know, the chaps in Korea are engaged in an even more brutal contest, one that deliberately seeks to kill. That is not their fault. Their presence there is praiseworthy and the basic purpose of their mission is far removed from the prize ring, yet in essence the instinct in the front line is the same—to hurt.

This, of course, is not necessarily to defend prize fighting, but merely to cite the reality of man and his habits.

Gerald Waring Reports From Ottawa

THERE'S speculation that George Drew's decision to send his children to school in Switzerland may turn out to be one of those little things which help defeat politicians on election day.

The youngsters, Edward and Sandra, are taking special courses in languages, Drew explained on his return from Europe. He said they would come back to Canada for the rest of their formal education.

Nevertheless, the Tory chief's entirely laudible decision to give his children the advantages of study abroad isn't the kind of action which identifies him with the common man. One reason the Progressive Conservatives have remained out of office 17 years is the suspicion of some voters that the Tory party is the party of the wealthy, and therefore unlikely to have the interests of the ordinary people genuinely at heart.

The Drew children's schooling in Switzerland will do nothing to settle such suspicions. Some political observers here rate it on a par with the Conservatives' circulation of a photograph of the Drew family gathered around a grand piano, and the late George McCullagh's reference in a political speech to Drew's swimming in the private pool on the McCullagh estate.

* * *

IT'S being said, and with more than an element of truth, that the busiest man during Prime Minister St. Laurent's recent journey to British Columbia was one Bill Munro.

In case you've never heard of him, he is a very personable young man who works for Cockfield, Brown & Co., an advertising, publicity and public relations firm which handles a big portion of the Liberal party account.

Munro went along to keep a discreet but vigilant eye on the P.M., and to try to foresee and forestall any action or omission by the P.M. which might offend the public or the press.

DREW doesn't lack public relations counsellors, but it's obvious at times that he doesn't consult them enough. For example, when he returned from his "trade fact-finding" trip to Europe, several newspapermen requested interviews. Instead of granting those interviews, Drew called a press conference.

About 35 newsmen attended, and it lasted for an hour and five minutes. Among the doodles in my notebook, the newsiest quotes I can find are repetitous.

One is: "I'm quite sure there are ways the whole (dollar-sterling) market can be made more flexible".

Another is: "If some flexibility of credits can be achieved, it will do more to expand trade than anything else."

A third is: "I'm quite sure there are ways in which trade can be increased by more flexible credit."

Reporters' efforts to pin Drew down on what he meant by "flexible credit", and what "ways" to achieve this he favored, failed to produce any clear-cut Tory proposals on how Canada could regain its allegedly lost market in Britain.

Drew's skirting around the nub of the matter doesn't mean he hasn't any ideas to put forward. Best guess is that he wants to consult his experts first, particularly the party's financial critic, J. M. Macdonnell, and that he wants to save his ammunition for the session of Parliament beginning November 20.

He would have been better advised to issue a statement to the press, for reporters don't like to have others waste their time. As one old public relations man commented, "You should never have a press conference unless you've got something to say".

Two-Handed Eating

(From Saturday Night)

THESE in truth are great days for Canadians who enjoy looking pridefully over the border at their good but sometimes slightly superior friends in the United States. Not only is the Canadian dollar at a substantial premium over the American one, but the other day the American way of eating meat-and-vegetable dishes was roundly denounced, and the Canadian emphatically approved, by the chief American expert on what is and is not "done" in the best circles.

Emily Post was written to by a lady who lays down her knife after cutting her next fragment, transfers her fork to her right hand, lifts the fragment to the appropriate place, absorbs it, transfers the fork to the left hand again, picks up the knife, cuts another fragment, and repeats the process until her needs are satisfied or the viands give out. This we have generally regarded, and have been taught by our American friends to regard, as the American way of eating. This lady's husband, however, keeps his knife in his right hand and lifts his fragments with his fork, held continuously in his left, which we have regarded as the Canadian technique.

The lady wrote to inquire which of them was right, and to our unspeakable astonishment Emily Post replied "your husband!" and went on to describe the "American" technique as the "zigzag" method of eating, suitable only for persons with inadequate control of the left-hand muscles. Canadians therefore need no longer feel vulgar or indelicate when using their two-manual method in American dining-rooms. Whether Canadian residential schools which have American pupils will feel able to abandon the practice of having two tables, one at which food is eaten in the "American" manner and one at which both hands are kept continuously employed, is another question. We fancy that in spite of Emily Post a good many Americans will keep on zigzagging.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

IT was imagined by men of vision a few years back that the invention of the motorcar would spell the end of the congestion which has damned cities from time immemorial. Ancient cities built walls around themselves for security and defense. Inside those walls natural growth and expansion of the years had to be accommodated. In time, such cities became ant hills rather than human habitations, and in them flourished all the evils of congestion—plagues, poverty, crime.

The next form cities took was governed in shape by trade, commerce and industry: they grew along river wharves, around ports, or merely around a central ganglion of factories and warehouses. The cheapest housing was always closest to the wharf, the warehouse and the factory. Each generation, first with steam, then with electricity and lastly with gasoline, strove to avert congestion by offering cheap and easy transportation out of the industrial and commercial cores of cities.

But man is a clustering animal. The motor age is now in its prime and pride. And now that it is easy for us to live in suburbs out in the wide expanses of countryside around the cities, what do we find? Each new housing enterprise packs 'em in, shoulder to shoulder. We see the absurdity of little suburban colonies, far out amid the fields, the maisonettes huddled together like sheep in cruel wilderness.

It is of course the services that force us to cluster: water mains, gas and electric services, sewage disposal, pavements; there are the controlling elements of congestion in the modern picture. In ancient days, we huddled for reasons of security, behind the city wall. In later times, we huddled because there was no transportation to and from our work. We solved the transportation angle, thoroughly, but then devised such comforts of water, light, power and pavements that none of us is willing to do without them. And their cost keeps us huddled still.

False Picture

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

IN our political fights in the United States we are likely to forget that the struggle is intensely followed by our friends and enemies abroad. In November one or the other candidate and party will be called to govern. Few Americans believe that either outcome will mean catastrophe or even a radical change in foreign or domestic policy.

In foreign policy Democrats and Republicans are similarly pledged in all essentials. In domestic policy the next administration will be checked by Congress, which seldom aligns itself on strict party lines over specific issues.

Both parties contain liberals and conservatives, and the attempts of one wing of each party to purge the other wing have failed.

The next administration will have to temper its winds to conditions in the country and abroad, and to public opinion. No party, for instance, will fail to take measures to prevent a depression, even if these demand more of the state financing and interference which right-wing Republicans theoretically deplore. Neither party will alienate powerful groups, and neither will see the extreme measures of left or right realized. The United States is middle-of-the-road, and approaches questions not abstractly but pragmatically. The world should know this.

The charge of corruption has been overplayed. The administration is not "a bunch of rascals." In Congress leading crusaders against waste and against officials willing, for a consideration, to please the customers have been Democrats. Nor is there evidence that favor-seekers have all been Democrats. Most Americans are honest in dealing with their government—more voluntarily honest, in my experience, than most peoples.

* * *

The chief Communist infiltration into the federal civil service occurred during the depression and the fighting alliance with the Soviet Union. No Soviet ally escaped this penetration. It was aided by the deceitful "dissolution" of the Comintern, and the wartime "patriotism" of the Communist press.

But it is not easy to smoke out conscious or unconscious Communist agents in civil services. They don't advertise themselves as such. The claim that Republicans would have spotted them immediately is buncombe. Wartime agencies headed by Republicans had them, too.

Civil service employees have certain legal rights. They cannot be fired on mere suspicion.

No government in power wants to compromise itself by admissions of guilt or error. The Democratic administration and its liberal supporters can justly be criticized for whitewashing.

But the charges made in this campaign by a few Republicans, especially by certain Midwest congressional candidates, can give the world the notion that this administration is riddled through and through by "Reds," and that if the Democrats win, Communists may take over the U.S.A.!

This does not add to America's position of strength. The world needs to observe faith, confidence and serenity in America, not a nervous breakdown, artificially stimulated.

Bevan Move Apparent Unity Bid

LONDON, Oct. 15 (Reuters)—Aneurin Bevan, leader of the left wing of Britain's Labor Party, today made what appeared to be a bid for peace with the moderate followers of Clement Attlee.

Writing in the left-wing journal Tribune, Bevan invited all 296 Labor Members of Parliament to attend meetings of his rebel group of 30. The meetings of Bevan followers have hitherto been held in secret.

has been a word of truth" in Attlee's charges that Bevanites form "a party within a party."

"If certain members of the party believe there is something more sinister in these group meetings, then they are invited to attend," he wrote.

While not suggesting that he will dissolve his rebel group, Bevan indicated he wanted unity in Labor Party ranks.

"We want to build Labor unity," to carry out the decisions arrived at the Morcambe conference (where the Labor Party recently drew up its policies for the coming year). We invite all members of the parliamentary Labor Party to find out for themselves what our activities are."

WON'T GIVE UP

Bevan concluded by saying that while his group wants party unity there is one thing we will not do.

We will not abandon our right to carry on Socialist education in Great Britain, in order to provide an enlightened Socialist movement behind a Socialist majority in the next Parliament."

Bevan said there is no obstacle to Bevanites' trying for election to the "shadow cabinet"—the ruling body of the Socialist Parliamentary Party.

It is understood that Bevan himself and two close lieutenants, Harold Wilson and Mrs. Barbara Castle, will put themselves forward for election.

Oddities in the News

Workmen Stumped, Tipple Won't Topple

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Oct. 15 (AP).—This is the story of a wooden tipple that wouldn't topple.

The tipple—a coal loading structure on the Milwaukee Railroad at nearby Atkins—is the last remaining facility of a $1,000,000 installation built by the railroad in 1917.

The coming of the diesel locomotives made the installation obsolete. Other structures have been wrecked previously.

Now the railroad is trying to tear down the 103-foot tipple, too.

Last Saturday workmen tried to pull the tipple down with a tractor.

The tipple tipped but wouldn't topple.

Yesterday the wrecking company set off dynamite blasts under the tipple. But it still didn't topple.

The company is looking around for some other way to tear down the tipple. It's still standing there—tipped, but untoppled.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 15 (BUP).—A Vancouver man is pondering just how effective advertising really is.

Dick Dickson of Campbell Motors, Limited, said he advertised an automobile as "a steal at $3,000." The day the ad appeared in a Vancouver paper, the auto was stolen.

B.C. Missed In Saving On Gasoline

TORONTO, Oct. 15 (CP) — Several oil companies today announced reductions in the wholesale prices of gasoline and fuel oil. The reductions ranged from a half-cent cut on the price of gasoline to a cut of one-fifth of a cent a gallon on heating oil.

Imperial Oil Limited, British American Oil Company Limited, and the Supertest Petroleum Corporation made the announcements.

Shell Oil Company of Canada Limited, said it is studying the matter. An official of Reliance Petroleum Company said his company will fall in line.

The lower prices were made possible by the current exchange value of the Canadian dollar, a spokesman for Imperial Oil said.

Prices were unchanged in Alberta since lower pipeline transportation costs offset exchange adjustments.

British Columbia savings were offset by the cost of supplementing normal crude supply sources.

Famed Cutty Sark To Be Preserved

LONDON, Oct. 15 (Reuters)—The Cutty Sark, ocean greyhound of the last century, will spend the rest of her days in dry dock here as a memorial to seamen who served before the mast.

A world-wide appeal for funds will be launched next spring to pay for the dock and to keep the 83-year-old sailing ship in repair. It is being organized by a group of London men, who have formed a preservation society to save the tea-clipper from rotting.

They plan to obtain a site at Greenwich, hive of shipping on London's busy River Thames. The dock is part of a riverside park being planned by the county council here.

OUT OF JOB

The Cutty Sark, built in 1869, was sold for £1,000 in 1922, and then presented to the Thames Nautical Training College.

Now the college has bought another training ship.

"We are expecting a good deal of support from Australia, where she is well known and where there are many Cutty Sark societies," society officials said. "And, of course, there are similar societies in Canada and the United States."

"We are also hoping to form Societies of Friends of the Cutty Sark and so create an international fellowship of sailors," they added.

University Delegates Split On Exchange With Russia

QUEBEC, Oct. 15 (CP).—Quiet campaigning tonight was reported to have left delegates from 20 Canadian universities almost evenly divided on the question of exchange visits with Russian students.

Polls have been taken of delegates who make up the international affairs commission of the National Federation of Canadian University Students. The votes were on the "principle" of exchange visits. They are not binding and are considered as something of an "opinion poll" preceding voting on the convention floor Thursday.

Tuesday night, the commission poll favored visits of Russian students by a 16-4 vote.

Polling tonight brought these results:

Canadian visit by Russian students: 11 for, four against; five abstentions.

Russian visit by Canadian students: 10 for, four against; six abstentions.

The way each university voted was not recorded.

LAVAL STAND

It was the abstentions and the stand taken by Quebec's Laval University that brought on the campaigning, particularly to swing the abstentions over to the oppositions.

The Laval delegation has already threatened to withdraw from the federation if the proposals are accepted.

Laval delegates would not say exactly what stands they will take Thursday, but insisted their threat is not a "blackmailing trick to kill the project."

Informed sources said tonight "further conditions" may be set by Laval but declined to elaborate.

The polls followed receipt of a telegram from the Anti-Fascist Committee of Soviet Youth. The Moscow telegram said the committee "favors the exchange of student delegations between different countries on a reciprocity basis."

The resolution to be considered by the convention Thursday in effect calls for the federation to extend an invitation, similar to the suggestions from Russia, as soon as funds are on hand to pay for a three-week cross-country tour by bus. It also provides that Canadian universities participating in welcoming Russian students have on hand the necessary funds.

The resolution says money might be raised by public subscriptions, the donors "cleared by the R.C.M.P." as non-Communists.

Bursary Provided For Air Studies

TORONTO, Oct. 15 (CP) — A $20,000 bursary fund to provide help to aeronautical engineering students has been made available to the University of Toronto.

The fund has been established by the Babb Company (Canada) Ltd. of Montreal in memory of one of its pilots, J. L. Harrison of Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask., who was killed in a crash in 1948 while on flying duty for the company.

The company received $25,000 in insurance and decided to devote the proceeds to a monthly annuity for life to the pilot's widowed mother. Agreement was made that on her death any funds remaining were to be turned over to the University of Toronto.

The mother, Mrs. Gertrude K. Harrison, died last year.

How Wonderful . . . It's Nylon! Yes, a Nylon Motor Tog . . . the very latest winter fashion in overshoes! Thanks to the R. F. GOODRICH Company, long a leading maker of finer footwear, all we lucky women may enjoy the advantages of nylon protection come snow-time. Completely weatherlight . . . light-in-weight . . . trim fitting . . . you'll be thrilled with the smart variety of patterns. We've sketched the "Nylog" (deluxe)—in black or brown nylon net with sheared trim . . . just one of the six different styles. Admire them all . . . then put your prettiest foot forward in fashion's newest favourite . . . a Nylon Motor Tog . . . this winter.

Beauty Both Inside and Out . . . it's yours when you buy the sleek and lovely new luxury compact of WOODBURY DREAM STUFF. Inside the compact you'll find Woodbury's famous "one-minute" make-up . . . foundation-tint-and-powder all-in-one. Such a soft, clinging, flattering make-up — it's the wonderful make-up for busy women! You see, just a flick of the puff gives your skin a quick velvet-smooth finish. There are 5 flattering shades. And outside, this new compact is a slim, light plastic case that won't break, won't spill, won't ever get that "battered" look. Make Woodbury Dream Stuff your constant beauty companion . . . costs just $1.00 in the new luxury compact—or 75c in the gold-and-blue box.

Now You Can Have real, creamy Cream of Tomato Soup . . . without adding milk or cream. Ask for HEINZ CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP. Heinz puts in the cream. You add only water. The result is the most delicious, creamiest tomato soup you've ever tasted. And you've saved ½ pint of milk! It makes good sense, doesn't it? M-mmm! And it certainly makes good eating sense! Rich, creamy smoothness—plus the wonderful flavour of Heinz pedigreed tomatoes. Just compare straight tomato soup diluted with milk — with Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup, with only water added. There's a big difference, isn't there? . . . and it's all in favour of Heinz!

So before you make yours, I'd like to let you in on a secret. Party dresses look their most flattering when they're fitted to perfection with LIGHTNING SLIDE FASTENERS. 7 tbsp. cornstarch
1 1/2 c. sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
1 1/2 c. hot water
3 egg yolks
1/3 c. fresh lemon juice
2 tbsp. butter

Mix cornstarch, sugar and salt thoroughly in saucepan. Add hot water and cook over high heat, stirring constantly, until thick and translucent. Remove from stove and add beaten egg yolks. How Many Hours a week do you spend on housework? Chances are, you spend almost double your husband's 40-hour week! But here's a real work-saver for you . . . DOMOLITE — that famous vinylite plastic fabric that's so easy to sew. You can make everything from baby's bibs to drapes with it. Domolite (made by Dominion Oilcloth and Linoleum Company) actually repels dirt—but when it needs cleaning, wiping with a damp cloth will do the trick. What's more, it won't rot. It's extremely long-lasting. See the beautiful Domolite patterns at your favourite department or variety store. And write to me — Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q. — for free, illustrated literature on what you can make with Domolite.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG, Oct. 15 (CP)—Prices moved narrowly and generally lower in moderately active trade today. Most declines came near the close.

Moderate commercial demand in oats and barley included shipping purchases. American shippers also picked up the deferred months of oats, while export buying in the deferred contracts of barley indicated some business might have been worked.

Flax received support from industrial and seaboard interests. Rye was taken by Americans and locals.

There was no information available on export wheat loadings.

Prices of class two wheat were down 1⅞ cents from yesterday while I.W.A. prices dropped off ⅝.

Mine Profit Lower

TORONTO, Oct. 15 (CP)—Wright-Hargreaves Mines Limited, in the fiscal year ended August 31, 1952, had net profit of $667,905. This compares with net profit of $743,717 the preceding year.

Wall Street "Jitters" Into Slump

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—A bad case of international jitters sent the stock market rushing down today in the widest break of the year.

Volume built up to one of the biggest totals this year, and the list broadened out to the widest in nearly two years.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped $1.60, the heaviest fall this year. It is the greatest fall in the average since May 18, 1951, when it was off $1.80.

The average now stands at $104.40. That is the lowest point in the current reaction from the peak of the year reached last August 7.

The industrial component fell $2.00, railroads fell $1.60, and utilities were off 60 cents.

Volume built up rapidly as the market declined. The total for the day was 1,730,000 shares, highest since April 14 when it was 1,790,000 shares.

The list broadened out fast to include 1,228 individual issues, the greatest number since January 17, 1951, when 1,239 issues were traded.

There were 915 losers and only 120 gainers in the list, while seven issues managed to reach new highs and 141 touched new lows for the year.

Toronto Slips

TORONTO, Oct. 15 (CP)—Stock market prices today took their sharpest dip in months as final-hour selling accentuated a day-long downward trend.

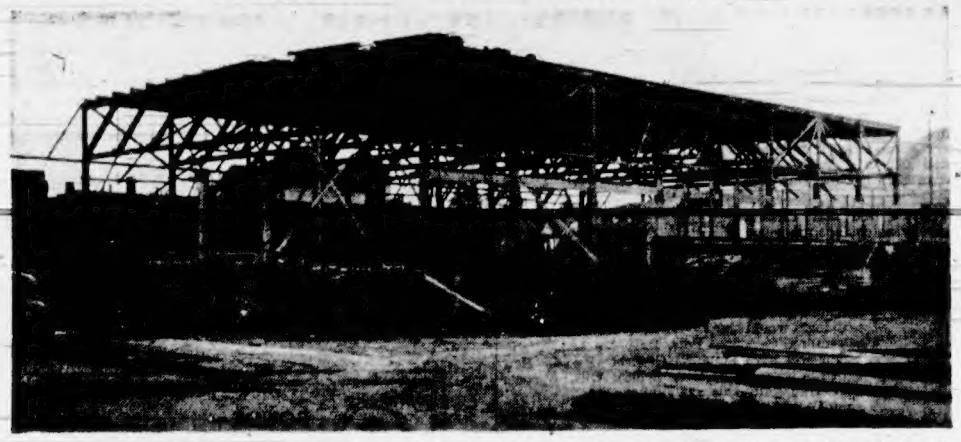
Western oils dropped nearly six points on the exchange's index and base metals dropped more than four index points to reach a new low for the year.

Trading picked up in the final hour after a slow day.

Industrials weakened as losses ranged to 1⅞ points and a few gains were recorded.

Senior golds led secondary issues downward as Lake Shore lost $1.

Curling Rink Construction Progresses



Victoria curling rink gradually is taking shape and construction of $175,000 building is progressing on schedule. Freezing equipment has arrived and will be installed in two weeks' time. It is hoped that curling will begin in first week of December. Eric Bullock, an executive member of the local curling association, is keeping his fingers crossed as he has a bet with Larry Marshall, president of the Cowichan Co-operative Association, that Victoria's rink will be completed before the new Duncan rink. Above picture by Colonist photographer Jim Ryan shows present stage of Victoria rink with roof completed.

Tacoma	1	2	0	5	10	2
Vancouver	1	2	0	12	15	2
Edmonton	0	2	1	7	12	1

Next game, tonight: Seattle at Edmonton.

Intersectional rivalry in the Western Hockey League began last night with Seattle Bombers dropping a 3-1 decision to Saskatoon Quakers before 5,000 fans at Saskatoon.

The victory was the third in four games for the undefeated Quakers and extended their league lead to three points. Victoria Cougars, New Westminster Royals, Bombers and Calgary Stampeders share second place with four points each but Cougars and Royals have a game in hand over the other two clubs.

Bombers will attempt to take over undisputed possession of the runner-up berth when they meet the winless Flyers at Edmonton in the only scheduled game tonight.

TRADE GOALIES

Quakers and Bombers traded goalies before last night's game with Bill Brennan going to the Seattle club and Bev Bentley joining the Quakers where he will play for Uncle Doug. Both performed brilliantly for their new clubs.

Defenseman Carl Kaiser, used on left wing, broke the scoreless deadlock to put Quakers in front early in the second period. Lorne Nadeau equalized on an unassisted effort after five minutes of the third period and Chuck McCullough notched the winner on passes from George Senick and Alex Kuzma four minutes later.

Bombers pulled Brennan for an extra forward with 30 seconds left to play but the move backfired when Doug Bentley took Wiggy Wylie's pass and drilled it past Bomber coach Lloyd Ailsby, who was trying to guard the Seattle cage.

OBSERVE SILENCE

A minute of silence was observed prior to the game out of respect to the late Quaker president Peter De Roche who died Saturday. Quakers wore black armbands.

Victoria Cougars, who make their next start against Royals tomorrow evening, released a press statement yesterday announcing the outright release of Joe Medynski to make room for Jim Fairburn, obtained Tuesday on loan from Cleveland.

Fairburn, who played with Seattle Ironmen last season, attended the Cougar practice yesterday and showed well. He will likely play right wing tomorrow on a line with Reg Abbott at centre and either Joe Evans or Flori Goegan on the opposite flank.

Meanwhile, in Vancouver the Canucks took a mauling from sports writers. Manager Coley Hall tagged the team's trouble as inability of the players to tear in and rough it up. He said the arrival of Ken Harrison, Jack Lancien, Freddy Brown and Chick Webster from New York Rangers will offset the trouble.

Bon Ballance, returned to Canucks by Cougars at the start of the season, headed for Penticton to join Penticton V's of the Okanagan-Mainline League.

Remains in Familiar Hands

Mann Cup, emblematic of Canadian senior lacrosse championship, is held in familiar hands after presentation by Tom O'Brien (left), president of Canadian Lacrosse Association, to Dootch Vitarelli, captain of Peterborough Timbermen. Peterborough defeated Vancouver four straight in best-of-seven final at Maple Leaf Gardens to retain title won last year at Vancouver.

Carter Regains Lightweight Crown With One-Sided Victory Over Salas

CHICAGO, Oct. 15 (AP)—Jimmy Carter, in complete charge throughout with harpooning lefts and crashing rights, regain his lightweight championship tonight by scoring a unanimous 15-round decision over game and bloody Lauro Salas of Monterey, Mexico.

The title changed hands before one of the smallest world championship crowds in modern boxing history—5,283—at the Chicago stadium.

The unanimous decision for the frozen-faced viciously efficient Negro scrapper reclaimed the title the 29-year-old Carter had lost to Salas in Los Angeles May 14.

Salas was a gamecock all the way as he sought desperately to remain the only Mexican ever to hold an undisputed title.

But in becoming the first lightweight to regain his title since Lou Ambers turned the trick in 1939, Carter was in charge most of the way with razor-sharp combinations that brushed aside the peek-a-boo crouch of the persistent Salas.

The sparse crowd paid a gross gate of $27,857 and a net of $21,429 which the fighters shared 30-30, plus a reported $10,000 each from television.

NOTHING RIGHT

The badly battered Salas said in his dressing room that it was his poorest fight in two years. "I just threw a lot of bad punches and didn't do anything right," he mumbled through puffed lips.

Carter, unmarked and breathing easily after the bout, said he figured Salas would fight the same way as before. "And he did. When he came after me in the last 30 seconds or so of each round, I met him coming and I held my own. I did it mostly with my left," he added.

Carter, who first had won the title by knocking out Ike Williams in May, 1951, was 10 rounds on the Associated Press score board with the 11th and 12th going to Salas and the second, sixth and 14th even.

Jimmy broke open cuts on the beetle-browned Salas and had him also bleeding profusely from the nose.

There were no knockdowns although Carter turned loose all his guns in the 15th round trying to be the first man to floor the Mexican.

Carter's left hook was used magnificently throughout the fight and often he followed with whistling right crosses that jolted Salas.

WIDE MARGIN

Referee Frank Gilmer voted for Carter 81-69 under the Illinois scoring system which usually give a round-winner a 6-4 edge. Judge Frank McAdams gave it to Jimmy by the widest margin, 84-66, while the other judge, James McManus voted for the new champion, 82-68.

In the third, Carter really took command with two tremendous lefts to the jaw and then hurt the Mexican with lefts and rights that had Salas pinned to the ropes at the bell.

Carter weighed 135, Salas 132.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

It's a matter of opinion who is more in the right in the current disagreement between the Coast Soccer League and referees about the touchy subject of fees. The only thing certain is that it is doing the sport no good, could do it a lot of harm if it isn't soon settled.

Referees state they can see no good reason why they should accept any pay cut after years of struggling to get what they think it equitable reimbursement. They have on their side the fact that no sport is any better than its officiating and are secure in their knowledge that the league will have some trouble replacing them.

And it is true that the league needs the best available refereeing talent and it seems reasonable to believe that the best available referees are members of the Referees' Association. It is true too, that the Coast Soccer League, as what is probably Canada's best league, is in an invidious position in balking at paying an extra $4 per match. To maintain and improve its calibre of play it must necessarily have competent officials and to get them it must pay for them. Looking at it that way, the arguments seem to favor the referees.

Hendry States His Case

However, a talk with Jock Hendry, the very efficient president of the C.S.L., throws a somewhat different light on the matter.

Hendry is adamant in his stand that the league will pay no more than its offer of $10 for referees and $4 for linesmen.

"I do not care what happens," he said yesterday. "I have instructions from the teams to stand fast and I will. We will not pay more than we have offered. If it's a war they want, I'll give them all the war they want. Referees have taken more out of soccer than anyone else and I have the figures to back up that statement."

As partial proof of his statement pending a more complete report, Hendry pointed to the fact that member clubs last season each received $1,200, while referees and linesmen were paid $1,560. He also stated that in the first league match of the season at Victoria, Vancouver Firefighters got only $20 as their share of the gate after deduction of traveling expenses, while referees and linesmen received $24.

"Not one club has made any money out of our league," he said. "I believe that George Eade lost as much as $1,100 last season with your team. How can we pay as much now as we did during the war years when league attendance was so much better than it is now?"

Hendry frankly admitted that the disagreement was no good for the game. "We cannot afford to have trouble in football now just as we are on our way back up. I sincerely hope this matter can be settled."

He made it clear again, however, that the league would not budge from its stand. "We will negotiate for payment on a sliding scale with the attendance figures at each match but under no circumstances will we pay more than we have offered as a set figure for each game," he said.

"I don't know who will referee Saturday, but we will manage somehow if this matter isn't settled. I may have to go out myself."

Hendry still believed that a settlement was possible before Saturday, in Vancouver at least, with referees either accepting a sliding scale based on attendance or the league offer of $10 and $4 with the proviso it will be increased if attendance gets back to normal. Part of his optimism was based on the fact that Division "B" referees, most of whom will never have a chance to officiate in the C.S.L., were given a vote and voted solidly against the league offer. He thinks that the senior referees may yet "put the good of the game ahead of their monetary interest."

Favors Two-Referee Plan

Queried about the advisability of changing the officiating system to two referees instead of one with two linesmen and letting the officials split the league offer of $18 per match for officials, Hendry said: "I have always believed this to be the most efficient system of officiating there is. I tried it as an experiment here in 1947 and it worked out fine. We will do all we can to settle this problem and will pay more if the gates warrant it. If not, we just can't."

And there the matter rests. The league appears to have a good case and its offer to pay more if attendance increases or to pay on a sliding scale with referees taking the same chance as team sponsors seems reasonable. On the other hand, one must pay for good officiating, and in Victoria at least, the refereeing in soccer is probably the best of any major sport. Besides, it is hard work and it is worth something to have to take what the rabid fans hand out each Saturday. Pick your own side.

NEWMARKET, England, Oct. 15 (AP)—Flush Royal, a 33 to 1 longshot owned by a Glasgow bookmaker, came on with a rush in the last 250 yards today to win the Cesarewitch Stakes over French Design in a photo finish.

Sir Victor Sassoon's Queen Vashti, a 100 to 1 outsider, finished third in the field of 36 for the gruelling, 2¼-mile race. French Design, owned by S. C. Bannis, was listed at 100 to 7 odds.

The favored Flighty Francis, at 4 to 1 odds, did not finish in the first 13. The Cesarewitch is the first race of England's big autumn racing double and thousands of bettors saw their hopes dashed when Flighty Francis and other heavily-backed entries failed. The second leg of the double is the Cambridgeshire Stake here October 29.

Flyers Obtain Hannigan For Fielder

Edmonton Flyers of the Western Hockey League yesterday announced the trade of centre Guyle Fielder, voted rookie of the year with New Westminster Royals last season, to St. Louis Flyers of the American Hockey League for right-winger Ray Hannigan.

Hannigan, who played with Pittsburgh Hornets last season, is one of four players traded to Chicago Black Hawks by Toronto Maple Leafs in the deal for Harry Lumley.

Hannigan had hoped to be sent to Calgary, where he could be recalled, if he did not make it with the Hawks this season. Instead he was assigned to St. Louis but balked at reporting and returned to his home in South Porcupine, Ontario. He was placed under suspension by the Hawks.

Hannigan, 25, turned pro with Pittsburgh in the 1949-50 season, scoring 30 goals and 21 assists in 64 games. He garnered 24 goals and 17 assists in 65 games the following season, adding nine goals and six assists in 13 playoff games. He divided last season between Toronto and Pittsburgh.

Totems Open Hoop Season Against Grads Tomorrow

Victoria High School's 1952-53 edition of the Totems will make its basketball debut tomorrow night at the Victoria High gym when they tackle the Grads in the feature game of a two-game card.

Although coach Porky Andrews would not release the starting line-up, the squad has been pared to 10, with six members of last year's team returning to action.

Dave Worthy, George Dennison, Ed Pederson, Bob Zarry, Bob Abbott and Don Donahue will be in action tomorrow night along with newcomers Stan Stewart, Chummy Crabbe, Eddy Lou and Gordie Jones. Jones played with Esquimalt High last season and was selected to a forward berth on the Vancouver Island all-star team.

Since the annual game against the Grads has been inaugurated, the ex-students have never been beaten. They will floor a starting line-up this year that will prove mighty tough.

STRONG TEAM

Len Anderson, picked to the second all-star team in the V.I.H.S.B.T., Click Clark, John Shields, Jim Jahraus, Lorne Oakley, Pete Kirchner and Lowell Hodges will be attempting to keep the streak intact.

A preliminary game between the rep girls' team and the grads will start at 7.30 with the main contest getting under way at 9.00.

Adding color to the show will be a display by the majorette drill team and the cheer leaders.

Totems will play six more home games before Christmas and three away games.

Home schedule follows: October 24, Alberni; November 7, Courtenay; November 14, Kitsilano; November 21, Normal School; December 5, Dickinson & Dunn (Intermediate A city league); December 12, Bellingham High.

Away schedule: November 1, at Alberni; November 28, at Kitsilano and November 29, at Bellingham.

FITTING CLIMAX

Tomorrow's basketball action will be the climax to the opening day of high school competition. Victoria High's cross-country squad will meet Normal School in a three-mile run at 4.00. The race will start and finish in front of the school.

At 3.30, the city institution's rep soccer squad will play Victoria College in an exhibition soccer game on the Fernwood grounds.

Victorians on Golf Body

Two Victoria men were named to the executive of the Pacific Northwest Golf Association at its annual meeting in Seattle over the week-end. Alex Hendry of Colwood was named vice-president and Gordon Verley of Uplands was elected to the board of directors.

Decision was deferred on the selection of the host club for the 1954 tournament to be held in Victoria in 1954. Bids were entered by the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club, the Victoria Golf Club and the Uplands Golf Club.

Portland's Columbia-Edgewater Golf Club was selected as the site of the 1953 tournament.

Other officers elected were: President, Robert Hudson, Portland; secretary, Jarrett C. Jones, Portland; treasurer, Tom Gorman, Portland; directors, Earl Morrison, Spokane, Dave Hamley, Pendleton, Ore., Don Provost, Medford, Ore., Bob Aflick, Kamloops, B.C., Adolph Schmidt, Olympia, Jack Westland, Everett, and Hoe Hughes, Wenatchee.

Hoop Line-Ups Announced For Senior 'A' Exhibition

Tentative line-ups have been selected for the exhibition game between the Victoria and Nanaimo entries in the Vancouver Island Senior "A" Basketball League at Nanaimo Saturday.

Coach Busher Jackson, whose Victoria team is still waiting for fans to suggest a name, stated last night that he would start scoring ace Johnny Clark at centre with Howie Tooby and Don Hendry on the wings and holdovers Bob Boyes and Elmer Curtis on defense.

Clark, Boyes and Curtis are the only members of last year's Victoria Individuals returning this year. Tooby and Hendry have seen limited senior "A" activity in the past.

TALL ROOKIE

Available for relief work are Walt Acreman, Bill Bamford, Barry Jackson and six-foot, seven-inch Bill Dobbie. All are stepping up from intermediate ranks.

Norm Baker is still recovering from the leg injury received at the end of the lacrosse season but has been attending practices and will play with the team when the leg is ready.

Jackson emphasized that no position has yet been settled and he would like to have more young players attending practices. Anyone interested in trying out for the team is asked to phone Jackson at G 8505.

Nanaimo manager Frank Crane stated that 19 players have been attending practices and two others will be at the practice tomorrow evening. He named eight players who will definitely take part in Saturday's game and added that others will be used if the occasion arises.

NANAIMO LINE-UP

Crane named a starting line-up of Joe Samaring, former member of Alberni Athletics at centre; Duncan senior "B" scoring ace Dink Pearson and Buzz Jacklin, centre on the Vancouver Island all-star team last season, as forwards, and lacrosse star Gordie Nickel and Doug Grinton, former Vancouver player, as guards. Also to see action are Sonny Cochrane, former Duncan intermediate star, and Jim Galloway and Mario Negrin, products of Nanaimo minor ranks.

Name suggestions for the Victoria team may be sent to the sports department of the Victoria Daily Colonist. Manager Pat Horgan is awarding two season tickets for the name selected.

Inter-High Soccer League Begins Schedule Monday

Vacation More Important Than Records for Arcaro

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (UP) — Records mean nothing to Eddie Arcaro so the mournful-looking jockey with the smiling bank account today planned a European vacation which virtually wipes out his chances of breaking the immortal Earl Sande's most famous mark.

"Records were made to be broken," little Eddie insisted as he prepared for two more stake engagements before sailing next Wednesday aboard the Queen Mary for a tour of England, France and Italy.

"They are nice to have, of course, he added. "But actually they don't mean anything. Eventually somebody comes along and breaks them anyhow."

Arcaro already has a pile of records almost as big as his bankroll, which is a sizeable bundle. This year, alone he will earn an estimated $250,000 through fantastic performances in the saddle which have put Sande's most revered record in peril.

The "handy guy" wrote that one into the books back in 1923 with an assist from the great Zev as he booted home winners of 39 stakes races. Zev won 10 of those for Sande.

Arcaro appeared a shoo-in to break that fabulous standard this year as he won 37 stakes events. Now, needing only two for a tie and three to eclipse Sande's record Aracro is preparing to ignore the mark by taking a two-month vacation.

He may match it, at that. For he'll go postward in two stakes before he and Mrs. Arcaro sail next Wednesday. Eddie is listed to be aboard Greek Ship in the International at Laurel on Saturday. He also will ride in the New Rochelle Handicap at Jamaica on Monday. But then, record tied or not, he'll stow his silks until reporting at Santa Anita after Christmas.

Even then he still could do it, for he'll put his boots in the irons in the California Breeders event December 27 and the Santa Ynez on the 31st. But the odds are against it.

UNPERTURBED

Which leaves Arcaro completely unperturbed. Long ago he acquired an external veneer which is rarely disturbed.

"Ride a winner and when you come back they lean over the rail and yell 'attaboy, Eddie, you're my boy, the next race if you lost a photo the same guy will growl at you 'Yah, Arcaro, yer a bum.'" Eddie explains. "Why get upset?"

He has that same calm philosophy about records.

Arcaro already has racing's biggest one of them all—five victories in the Kentucky Derby. Sande, and the ancient Isaac Murphy, once held that with three wins each in the Rose Run. Arcaro moved off in a class by himself with Lawrin in 1938, Whirlaway in 1941, Hoop Jr. in 1945, Citation in 1948 and Hill Gail this year.

PHENOMENAL STRING

The Derby was just one of a phenomenal string this year which includes the $112,750 Santa Anita Maturity; $82,400 Belmont; $105,000 Arlington Classic; $103,000 American Derby; $79,000 Washington Park Futurity, and a Derby week sweep of the Rose Run, Derby Trial, Kentucky Oaks and Debutante Stakes.

At 10 per cent of the purse and probably more — the little guy should worry about a few lines in the record book!

Golf--- Here's How

By SAM SNEAD

Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

The sources of power in short iron shots are the same as in the full wood shots, but the emphasis is definitely shifted. There is little hip or shoulder pivot and the swing is a three-quarter swing. The main source of power in the short irons is the down-swing of the club with the arms and finally the wrist snap. The hip pivot doesn't mean much, since it is limited sharply. Rhythm pays big difidends in the short irons, for after all, it is a precision shot and rhythm helps the timing. Remember to swing down to the ball. Don't let your head move up. Suppress that eagerness to see the ball in flight and await the automatic signal which you'll get from the right shoulder passing under your chin in the follow-through. I repeat, you hit down on the ball and your weight is forward. Be sure to use your hands.

Amateurs Lose In Cup Match

PENDLETON, Ore., Oct. 15 (AP).—The 10-man professional team came from behind to win the fourth annual Hudson Cup golf matches 9-6 here Sunday.

The professionals, trailing 3-2 in Saturday's two-ball matches, came back to win six of the 10 singles contests, and break even on two others.

Larry Lamberger, Portland; Harold West, Pendleton; Eddie Hogan, Portland; Emery Zimmerman, Portland; Ray Honsberger, Clarkston, Wash., and Stan Leonard of Vancouver, B.C., were the six winners.

Shatters Record

BOB SHAW

Import end of Calgary Stampeders, Shaw has already given his own Western Interprovincial Football Conference scoring record terrific beating and is virtually assured of retaining title. Shaw has scored nine touchdowns, 35 converts, three singles and eight field goals for a total of 107 points in 15 games. He set previous record of 61 last season.

Barred Cagers Seeking Reinstatement

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 15 (AP)—A trio of basketball greats, tarnished in last year's big fix scandal, is hoping to shine again in the American Basketball League.

The three are Alex Groza and Ralph Beard, storied all-Americans who starred at Kentucky University, and later professionally for Indianapolis, and Sherman White, rated the best buckerman in the business while he was playing for Long Island University.

They are working out daily in nearby Union City, displaying the brand of basketball magic that made them famous before they got mixed up in the point spreads and dumped games that shocked the nation.

Groza and Beard were placed on "indefinite probation" last spring for their part in the mess. White was jolted with a one-year prison sentence. All were banned for life by the National Basketball Association, major pro loop.

Hoping to get a chance to make amends and start afresh, they signed with Jersey City of the A.B.L. last week. A.B.L. moguls called the signing "premature" and said final decision on whether the three will stick will be made October 23.

Scribes Select Stengel As Top Manager of Year

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP). — Honors keep piling up on Casey Stengel. The grizzled 61-year-old pilot of the World champion New York Yankees today was named manager of the year for the second time by baseball writers in an Associated Press poll.

While it was not exactly a landslide, Stengel had a much easier time of it in the voting than his Yankees did in winning their fourth consecutive world championship under his direction.

Stengel was named on 37 of the 72 ballots. He netted more votes than the combined total of the 15 other managers. Stengel first won the poll in 1949.

STANKY HONORED

Eddie Stanky, a huge success in his freshman year as manager of the third-place St. Louis Cardinals, was second with 10 votes, giving scrappy Eddie the title of National League manager of the year. His total doubled that of Leo Durocher, voted manager of the year last year.

Stanky edged out Jimmy Dykes, colorful Philadelphia Athletics' skipper. Dykes received eight votes for steering the Athletics into fourth place, two notches higher than they finished in 1951.

Tied for fifth place with four votes were Chuck Dressen of Brooklyn, National League pennant winners, and Bucky Harris of Washington, seventh-placer in 1951, was an almost unanimous pre-season choice for the American League basement in 1952 but Harris directed them into fifth place.

In all, nine pilots received backing for the award. Two went to Phil Cavaretta of Chicago Cubs and one each went to Steve O'Neill of Philadelphia Phillies and Al Lopez of Cleveland.

Remember When . .

Connie Mack, shrewd manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, bought ace pitcher Bob (Lefty) Grove from the Baltimore Orioles for $100,000 cash, 25 years ago today. The great southpaw was with the Athletics until the end of the 1933 season, when he was traded to Boston Red Sox.

Reynolds E.R.A. Leader; Wilhelm Leads National

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)— Right-handers Allie Reynolds of New York Yankees and Hoyt Wilhelm, New York Giants' relief specialist, took major league earned-run honors for the 1952 season.

Final earned-run averages compiled by the Associated Press today disclosed that Reynolds, who posted a 20-8 record, paced American League pitchers with a 2.07 mark while Wilhelm, a rookie, topped National League moundsmen with a 2.43 slate.

It is the first earned-run title for Reynolds, an 11-year man. The 34-year-old Reynolds permitted 56 earned runs in 244 innings.

Wilhelm, who won 15 games and dropped three, becomes the first relief pitcher in National League history to head the E.R.A. The 29-year-old Knuckleballer appeared in 71 games, none as a starter. His record showed only 43 earned tallies in 159 frames.

Cleveland's big three of Mike Garcia, Bob Lemon and Early Wynn were well represented among the American League pace-setters.

Garcia was right behind Reynolds at 2.40, followed by Lemon with 2.47. Wynn was 10th with a 2.90 average.

Detroit's Hank Greenberg, Athletics was fourth with a 2.48 mark and Chicago's Joe Dobson was fifth with 2.55.

Wilhelm's closest competitor was Warren Hacker of Chicago Cubs with 2.58. Others in the first five were Robin Roberts of Philadelphia, 2.62; Karl Drews, another Philly Pitcher, 2.67; Bob Rush, Chicago, and Carl Erskine with 2.70 each.

Place Sedgman in Class With Tilden

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 15 (AP). — How does Australia's Frank Sedgman compare with the old tennis masters?

Two of Australia's great stars of yesteryear, Sir Norman Brookes and Gerald Patterson, rate the 24-year-old world amateur champion as one of the two top players of all time. The other, they say, is Bill Tilden.

The discussion came up as a result of Gardnar Mulloy's ranking of Sedgman as the seventh best player the world has produced. The veteran American star recently placed Don Budge, Tilden, Jack Kramer, Fred Perry, Ellsworth Vines and Bobby Riggs ahead of the Aussie ace.

"Frank loses too many matches to be considered a world beater," Mulloy said.

Brookes and Patterson believe Sedgman and Tilden belong in a class by themselves. Behind the two they group Budge, Kramer, little Bill Johnston, Tilden's Davis Cup partner of the 20's, and France's Henri Cochet.

"I have seen all the greatest players," said Brookes. "Tilden is the only man who could have beaten Sedgman at his top, and, mind you, I wouldn't be definite about that.

"Tilden was a masterly player. He played a high-power, all-court game, and had the counter to whatever way you attacked him.

"Budge was certainly the master back in the late 1930's. But Sedgman, at his top, would have beaten Budge because he was a yard faster attacking. Sedgman is fast enough to take on the volley a shot that Budge would have had to take on the rise. That's why Sedgman is able to get so much power into his game.

"Some of the big name players of the past would not have lived with Sedgman," said Brookes, Wimbledon champion in 1907 and 1914.

Patterson, Wimbledon champion in 1919 and 1922, said Sedgman might have beaten Tilden.

"I think that Johnston, America's No. 2 at the time of Tilden, would rank close behind Tilden and Sedgman as one of the greatest players."

Angler Happy But Unlucky

There is one Victoria man who can brag about the fish that didn't get away.

Bill Livsey, 897 Admirals Road, landed a 41-pound tyee on Saturday while fishing off Port Alberni. Fishing for coho, Livsey hooked the prize at 9.30 a.m., and was using a T-spinner with two ounces of weight and 100 feet of line. He also caught a 14-pound coho.

But the only sour note of a successful morning of fishing is that Livsey failed to register for a fishing derby at Port Alberni over the week-end and so put on the first prize of a new boat.

Uncle Wiggily Story - - -

By Howard Garis

SURPRISED BEARS

Uncle Wiggily had his camera all ready. When he found them he was going to take a picture of two cross bears running away. Now the bears had been found and it was time to take a picture.

"I am not afraid"

Jackie Bow Boy had [illegible] the two bears. They were sitting at the bottom of a [illegible] in the shade of a [illegible] tree. They had not [illegible] seen. Uncle Wiggily, who was at the top of the hill standing in the shade of a sassafras [illegible], [illegible] but gentleman, besides Jackie who had discovered the bears were Buster the parrot scout and Peetie Bow Bow who was Jackie's brother.

"Well, daddy," said Buster in a low voice, "here are the two bears. What are you going to do about them?"

"I am going to take their pictures, of course," answered Mr. Longears. "That's what I came out to do, and I am going to do it. I want to keep pictures of the two bears. Then I can show my pictures on [illegible] and Wumbat. When the other animals see the pictures of the bears [illegible] they will laugh. Bears don't like to be laughed at, [illegible]."

While [illegible] Uncle Wiggily [illegible]

"I think I heard the little girl say that those bears were afraid of me," said Mr. Longears. "I am glad of that. I like to have people afraid of me. It makes me feel important. I am not afraid of those bears, and I'll show them that they can't scare me and not come back to their cave."

Yes, as might happen that was [illegible] like.

But [illegible] to get pictures of the two bears [illegible] were [illegible] up in the top of [illegible] and they were afraid. Down at the bottom of the hill. The bears are [illegible] after [illegible] and [illegible] the two bears," said Buster.

And [illegible] words we [illegible] Jackie bears [illegible] bears [illegible].

[illegible] that [illegible] pictures [illegible] Uncle Wiggily [illegible] Long got a picture of the bears in my camera I am going down to the bottom of the hill close to the bears."

But that will be dangerous, daddy," [illegible] Buster. "If you get [illegible] bears so [illegible] bears [illegible] Uncle Wiggily [illegible] [illegible] with their claws and bite [illegible]."

"Let me [illegible]," said Peetie Wee. "I'll [illegible] a picture of the bears [illegible] them. So I can [illegible] and [illegible] of the bears [illegible] them."

"What sort of a [illegible] going to [illegible] bears?" Uncle Wiggily wanted to know.

"[illegible] be a picture [illegible] and [illegible] bears [illegible] as [illegible] nose.

"[illegible] Uncle Wiggily [illegible] bears [illegible] Uncle Wiggily [illegible] and [illegible] them."

"The bears were not pleased," answered Uncle Wiggily, and confident like, "I am going to surprise 'em."

"How can you do that?" inquired Peetie Bow Wow.

"In two ways," replied Mr. Longears, "as will be with these dried leaves." He pointed one long ear at a pile of dried leaves near the sassafras bush. [illegible] and [illegible] these two [illegible].

"Uncle Wiggily pointed up into a [illegible] that he saw [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] tickle [illegible] nose.

"I can [illegible] tomorrow's story if the wind doesn't blow back on the porch all the autumn leaves when the egg beater just beaten off with the pancake turner."

Classified Best Market Place, City Real Estate Board Told

The widest and best market best they could make use of the place in the community is the classified columns of the local newspaper, Lester P. Jenkins of the Seattle Times told members of the Real Estate Board of Victoria yesterday.

Mr. Jenkins, who is the classified advertising manager of the Seattle Times, explained that on an average day the classified columns of his paper present between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000 worth of offerings to its readers.

Of this amount $7,000,000 was offered in real estate, automobiles and business opportunities.

Mr. Jenkins then gave Victoria realtors some hints as to how they could

Each advertisement should be personalized to suit the property, he claimed.

For the future of real estate Mr. Jenkins said that real estate expert Roy Wenzlick of St. Louis believed that there might be a slight falling off of values until about 1957. This was due to the fact that owing to the depression of the early thirties there are fewer persons at the moment are beginning to fall off.

However, there's a brighter long-term outlook. The war babies will be making their presence felt on the real estate business early in the 1960's and this may bring another real estate boom in its train.

Mr. Jenkins was invited to the Real Estate Board of Victoria by Dr. Otto Weghorst, general manager of Victoria Press.

Illustrated—Buick Custom 4-Door Fourback Sedan

You'll be amazed at the LOW price of BUICK

TODAY'S market conditions are the kind in which Buick really shines. Do you know why?

Buick prices start down within easy reach of the folks who, in the past, have been in the habit of buying lower-priced cars.

Fact is—a big chunk of Buick sales now comes from the folks who trade in one of these lower-priced cars.

For very few extra dollars, they're getting a lot more automobile.

They're getting more power—and the thrill that goes with it.

They're getting "big-car" comfort. They're getting a ride that cost a million dollars and more to develop.

They like the room, the fabrics, the extra appointments they find in the smart-stepping beauty pictured here. And they like Dynaflow Drive.*

They like the way it handles. They like the way it's engineered. They like the satisfaction they get out of touching off the power of its Fireball 8 Engine—and they like the miles they get from a gallon of fuel.

So Buick sales are booming. Not just the CUSTOM—but also the SUPER and ROADMASTER. Folks find that each one is the buy in its field.

When we tell you that business is great, we can back up that statement with figures. More people are buying Buicks than any other car at their price or above.

Why don't you come in and see for yourself what's behind this popularity? If you can afford a new car, you can be the proud owner of a Buick.

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

*Optional at extra cost on all models except Special. Dynaflow Drive and Fireball engines standard on the Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other series.

KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on nerves—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If their tail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. "Doan's helped me feel well get and use Doan's Kidney Pills. Victoria College Celebrates 50th Anniversary

Admiring the portrait of Dr. John M. Ewing, after whom the new library and administrative buildings at Victoria College have been named, are Ray Frey, president of the students' council, who unveiled the portrait last night; Mrs. Myfanwy Spencer Pavelic, artist who painted the picture, and college president Dr. W. Harry Hickman. The portrait was unveiled as part of the 50th anniversary celebrations of the college last night. (Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Education Minister Tilly Rolston cuts the golden tape and declares open the Ewing Memorial Building of Victoria College at anniversary ceremonies last night. (Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Speakers Praise Work of College

Fifty years of education was dusted off and put on display at Victoria College last night.

At an impressive golden jubilee ceremony, the council and faculty of Victoria College, along with special guests heard the several history of the school honored by several distinguished speakers.

The official opening of the John M. Ewing Memorial building and library was held after the anniversary celebrations as a separate ceremony.

Judge J. B. Clearihue, chairman of the anniversary celebrations, introduced the speakers after the invocation by Dean Philip R. Beattie of Christ Church Cathedral.

BRIEF HISTORY

He gave a brief history of Victoria College from 1903, when seven students made up the student body of the institution.

Five of the seven original members of the student body and two of the original teachers were present on the stage for the anniversary.

Jimmy Cleverdon paid tribute to the president who have guided the college during its seven years and called on Dr. W. Harry Hickman present president to introduce the evening's speakers.

Mr. R. G. C. Wood, one of the original class members and last speaker of the evening, received the term of 1903 for the assembled guests.

He made gentle fun of his classmates telling of their habits and manners and bringing back to life our first wonderful fall term.

BENEFIT TO ALL

Prof. Jeffree A. Cunningham, a teacher at the college for many years, outlined the advances in education, particularly noted during the half century of the college's life.

Justice Clearihue reviewed the history in the early days.

Back in 1903 we had no war, no atomic bombs or jet-liners and could travel even to Russia without a passport. We could get a big steak for 25 cents. Since that time we have progressed," he said.

Greetings from the University of British Columbia were delivered by Dr. Norman A. M. MacKenzie president of U.B.C.

The end of the anniversary ceremonies and beginning of the ceremony of opening the Ewing Building were carried out by Education Minister Tilly Rolston.

After Mrs. Rolston's speech an academic procession, headed by Professor L. Clark, Mrs. Rolston and Dr. Hickman, proceeded to the new building through the east door of the old college building.

Faculty members, council members and guests lined up on either side of the entrance to the memorial building while Mrs. Rolston cut the golden tape and declared the building officially open.

"To perpetuate the memory of Dr. Ewing, the department of education is proud to have had a part in the realization of this project," she said.

Inside the new library, lined with a display of the paintings of Emily Carr, Joseph Morgan, and one of the original college chests designed by Albert J. Hall, M.A., C.E., Dr. Willard Ireland, acting as chairman of the evening, introduced Raymond Lees, president of the students' council.

UNVEIL PORTRAIT

Mr. Frey had been chosen to unveil a portrait of the late Dr. Ewing painted by Myfanwy Spencer Pavelic that will hang as a permanent picture in the library.

The huge picture of Dr. Ewing, seated and in his robes, stood on an easel at one end of the room, draped with heavy green and blue satin drapes.

After the unveiling, W. T. Straith, M.L.A. for Victoria, spoke to the guests on the dead educator.

"Dr. Ewing will live on in the lives and characters of us students for the rest of their days," he said.

During the opening of the library, Conver Roberts, chairman of the J.B.C. alumni development fund association, presented a cheque of $500 to the library fund, now well over the $3,500 mark.

Nurses Well Protected By Anti-TB Vaccine

Hospital authorities in Victoria said yesterday use of BCG (Bacillus Calmette-Guerin) anti-tuberculosis vaccine had practically halted occurrence of the disease among student nurses.

Tuberculosis was once regarded almost as an occupational hazard among the nursing students.

Royal Jubilee Hospital authorities said they had had no case of tuberculosis develop in any student nurse taking BCG since the vaccine was put into use in 1949.

"There was a comparatively high rate among student nurses before that," they said.

BCG's results had been "quite amazing," they said in preventing occurrence of tuberculosis among student nurses who all put in a five-week tour of duty in the T.B. Pavilion and also nurse "unknown cases" in the course of their duties.

Authorities at St. Joseph's Hospital reported BCG had been in use there for several years with "very good results."

They said a considerable number of students had contracted tuberculosis prior to BCG, and termed its use "very effective."

Reports have followed an account from Vancouver General Hospital which said BCG had been in use there since 1947. The report said tuberculosis had not occurred among the 843 student nurses entrolled at the hospital since that date.

The B.C.G. account was contained in a story on the retirement of James M. Paterson, director of nursing at Vancouver General.

She is credited with approaching the B.C. Division of Tuberculosis Control with the proposal that all student nurses entering the Vancouver General Hospital be vaccinated with BCG.

Forest Fire Picture Same; Nine Huge Blazes Contained

The forest fire picture throughout lower Vancouver Island remained practically unchanged yesterday, with nine large blazes reported to be "contained" and presenting no immediate danger.

"That situation would change in a hurry, however, should a brisk wind arise," stated one Langford forestry station official.

A big fire on the Malahat, said to have covered approximately 100 acres along Finlayson Arm, was said to be "well under control." At one time the blaze threatened to destroy several buildings on property owned by Victoria's Mayor Claude Harrison.

Last night firefighters were keeping a careful eye on a big fire in the Florence Lake district. Flames were creeping slowly over land to be burned up a mountainside and toward dwellings had noted.

Purposely lit slash fires in the Highlands district were said to be pretty quiet, with several of the blazes burning themselves out. Fire Chief [illegible] some of which was [illegible] for as long as four and [illegible] down a mountainside and toward dwellings had noted.

Soered Rift Disclosed

NANAIMO, Oct. 15. Some thing of a rift in the Nanaimo and Gulf Islands Social Credit Association has been discovered in a statement by E. J. Brewester who was candidate in the last election.

Mr. Brewester, in a statement, said: We unfortunately had been in use to remove him from the office of president "but the attempt failed."

Mr. Brewester added: "I believe it was the speechless of a movement to slip in a hand-picked candidate through the back door."

Massey To Award Soldier Decoration

The Military Cross will be presented this afternoon by Governor General Vincent Massey to a Canadian army hero of the Korean war.

Honored at the investiture to be held at the Canadian Services College will be Capt. Joan Patrick R. Tremblay, 31, whose home is in Quebec City. Recently returned from the Korean war theatre, Capt. Tremblay is currently serving as a squadron commander of one of three caribou flights now training at the college.

Capt. Tremblay is being honored for the action and presence of mind displayed on July 1 of last year. He and a Capt. Wootton were in an observation aircraft over the front lines of battle on Korea's west coast.

The shell of a Chinese anti-aircraft gun exploded nearby. The aircraft shuddered. A shell fragment struck the pilot in the spine, the injury being so severe he was no longer able to handle the plane.

NEVER FORGET

Capt. Tremblay was in the aft seat, the injured pilot ahead.

It was an experience I will never forget," Capt. Tremblay said yesterday. He took over with dual controls in his cockpit and by following verbal instructions received over an inter-cock pit communications system from the pilot, he managed to keep the plane on a home-base course.

Then the pilot passed out. And he stayed that way for about 45 minutes. Capt. Tremblay kept the plane on its course.

"That was the longest 45-minute period of my life."

As the aircraft neared the

CAPT. J. P. R. TREMBLAY

Kimpo airport the pilot regained consciousness. In low, uneasy words he was able to provide landing instructions to Capt. Tremblay. The plane neared to ward the air strip.

"I think we were going up at a down quite a bit. I had a fast one. We were getting closer to [illegible] and I was a wee bit scared.

The observation plane was cleared [illegible] the air strip from the wrong direction and came [illegible] comfortably close" to smashing into a jet fighter that was leaving the strip.

The plane wasn't too seriously damaged. And the two occupants were safe on land again.

In one sense that was a big surprise to Capt. Tremblay. He had never flown a plane before.

Rip Capsizes Troller in Active Pass; Skipper, Friend Safe as Boat Floats

Two Vancouver fishermen narrowly escaped death late yesterday morning when their fishing boat was capsized by a swirling whirlpool as they entered Galiano Active Pass. They were towed from Vancouver to Victoria.

Vessel owners Capt. Leo Carter and his friend Ted Lutes were in the wheelhouse of their 35-foot seiner when they heard a crash. The log at the entrance of the pass.

The boat went over on her side with a motion of seconds. After she had been viciously thrown around by a large whirlpool, said Mr. Carter in a telephone interview shortly after the mishap.

He said the vessel was travelling [illegible] with little [illegible] when [illegible] through Active Pass. Only two feet of the starboard side was showing above the water.

Edward Bamford, owner of South Galiano Island's large general store, saw the trouble [illegible] and immediately called upon Miss Ethel Clarkson, nearby [illegible] who raced to the scene in her speedboat Islander. Mr. Bamford accompanied her. The two stranded fishermen were towed to Galiano where they [illegible] during the night.

Their trawler was towed to the Galiano wharf by Peter Penroche, Gulf Islands tug operator.

Pacific Pile Driving Co. Ltd., is currently repairing the government wharf at Galiano. Its pile driver unit was used to right and lift the trawler and pumping operations commenced.

Skipper Carter said the engine would require a complete overhaul and that approximately $2,000 worth of electrical equipment including radio depth sounders and navigational aids [illegible] been totally ruined.

The men plan having their fishing vessel towed back to Vancouver today.

Upper Island Tourist Bureau Supported by Alberni Board

ALBERNI, Oct. 15.—Visions of a greatly expanded upper Island tourist industry have sold this city's board of trade on the idea of assisting in the setting up of an associated tourist bureau in Nanaimo.

Meeting here Tuesday night, trade board members enthusiastically endorsed a bid from the Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce for assistance in establishing a permanent information bureau in the Island's eastern gateway city, administered by a board of management consisting of representatives from all upper Island centres.

Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce president Jack Evans told the local gathering of business and professional men the time was ripe for expansion of efforts from the present methods of tourist brochures and seasonal operation of a temporary tourist information bureau which is situated some distance away from the steamship depot.

Nanaimo in itself is not a major tourist attraction, said Mr. Evans. Its main purpose in the Island tourist scheme of things is to provide the logical coastal centre for visitors to upper and central Island points.

Backing up Mr. Evans' claims were Bruce Armstrong, chairman of Nanaimo's tourist management committee, and Phil Labonte, secretary-manager of the Nanaimo Tourist Information Bureau.

Reporting on bureau activities during the past season, Mr. Labonte said that in spite of centre's out of the way location more than 5,000 tourist information seekers had availed themselves of its facilities, but he cautioned his listeners the all-out support of every chamber of commerce group on the upper Island would be needed to ensure the success of a larger, permanent bureau.

Indicative of the Nanaimo men's appealing picture of an associated bureau was the Alberni decision to suspend for the time being a move to concentrate its tourist-seeking efforts to advertising West Coast attractions. George Scott and veteran business man Ed Homewood, leaders in the move to withdraw support from the previous Nanaimo sponsored efforts, explained their stance in favor of the new associated bureau plans.

Mr. Homewood secured easy passage of a motion that the Alberni board favor representation on the management group of the proposed centrally-located bureau.

The Nanaimo trio are expected to repeat their representations later on in this month to a meeting of the Port Alberni Chamber of Commerce.

City's October Dry Spell Longest on Record Books

Victoria is currently in the middle of its longest dry spell for the month of October on record and weather officials say there is no definite signs of a change.

Yesterday was the city's 18th consecutive day without rain. The previous record dry spell for October was in 1945 when it did not rain between October 1 and the 14th.

Officials reported yesterday that more moisture was coming to the coast and conditions were slowly deteriorating but there was no break in sight as yet.

Victoria experienced its first frost of the season yesterday with several reports of small patches in the lowlying areas. Temperatures will continue in the 48-60 degree range, it was reported.

Ambassador Mayhew Will Make Friends in Japan

BY JAMES K. NESBITT

The new Canadian ambassador to Japan, Hon. R. W. Mayhew, won't be serving pink ladies at his receptions in Tokio. He won't [illegible] like the world's most polished, suave diplomat talking double talk. He won't be making any head-or-catching speeches.

But he'll make friends for Canada, no one doubts that. He'll make friends slowly, almost ruthlessly but once made, he'll keep them, not only for himself but for Canada. The Japanese people will never be suspicious of Bob Mayhew.

NO FASHION FIGURE

His wife won't be a figure of tremendous fashion, out to beat the ladies of other embassies in stylish clothes. She won't be trying to outdo other embassies with champagne and oyster parties.

His Excellency, Her Majesty's Ambassador Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary for Canada to the Imperial Japanese Court and Mrs. Robert Wellington Mayhew, will be just plain, average Mr. and Mrs. Canada, richer, of course, not worrying about the cost of the roast beef [illegible] they'll have all the servants they want, and a big limousine with liveried chauffeur. They'll go in state to the Emperor's Palace.

Their mode of living will change, amid the trappings of diplomatic life in one of the world's most beautiful and fascinating capitals, but they won't change themselves. If they were that kind they'd have changed long ago; in all their years in Ottawa they were untainted by the snobbishness that besets any capital. They always came back to Victoria, and they loved their old friends [illegible].

Older Victorians remember Bob Mayhew 40 years ago when he first came here from his native Ontario. He was a small manufacturer, and, in a few years he was doing well. He had no great ambition to be rich, but it happened to him anyway. It worried him a little, that money, and he thought he should try to do something, not only with it, but with himself, for his fellow man. He was elected to Oak Bay council, later was reeve. He joined clubs, worked hard in church organizations.

He [illegible] wasn't sure whether he was Liberal or Conservative. In 1947 Dr. Simon Tolmie, Victoria's M.P., died. The Liberals asked Mayhew to contest the seat. He was so astonished [illegible] hawed, first said, no, and then said perhaps, and finally said yes, adding he didn't expect he'd win. No one was more surprised than he when he beat Conservative B. A. McKelvie. Victorians were shocked, oh, they consoled themselves, it wouldn't last long.

THREE TIMES

Well, that was 15 years ago. Bob Mayhew did it three times since in general elections of 1949, 1945 and 1949, beating such Tory stalwarts as J. Sutherland Brown, Gordon Cameron and Sir Henry Drayton, though he almost lost to the latter.

Mayhew has kept being surprised in fact he always [illegible] just a bit bewildered at [illegible] loyalty of Victoria. He can't understand his success at the polls. He knows he doesn't make a rip-roaring speech, talks too long because he's not [illegible] the faintest idea how to back-slap and pump hands and so [illegible] back-bencher in Ottawa. Then [illegible] bedrooms at swank hotels [illegible] a diplomat. He knows he has worked hard, but hasn't accomplished really very much.

Austin F. Cross, an astute Ottawa Press Gallery reporter has summed up Mr. Mayhew . . . the truth is, Bob Mayhew does take a bit of knowing, but the time spent in getting to know him is well worth while."

Indeed a conversation with Mr. Mayhew at first is a bit trying. He never quite seems to know what to say and neither do you.

No one would ever know Mr. Mayhew is a rich man. He never talks money or worries about his investments or dresses like Savile Row or seeks to impress, which means boring any one with the story of the Mayhew success or what some bigwig said to him and what he said in London, Paris or New York. Mr. Mayhew likes best listening to you.

As Mr. Cross reported: "It was quite a surprise when I learned—that this unassuming, almost silent man was a big West Coast industrialist."

Bob Mayhew sat for years as a [illegible] spotted him, made him his parliamentary assistant. A few years later he went into the cabinet as minister of fisheries. He [illegible] to Victoria. When she gives a seated [illegible] estimates. Once more [illegible] tea or mustard in her beautiful antique cups over [illegible] Mrs. Mayhew has those she heard Cabinet [illegible] old friends not rich society for [illegible] was the first time a novel [illegible] appeared on their table. She'll [illegible] came to this House that a minister open up her big rooms for any [illegible] of fisheries has made a state [illegible] good cause. You somehow never [illegible] ment similar to the one we had [illegible] of her as a cabinet minister today. That would indicate the [illegible] wife, let alone an ambassador's wife, in fact you wouldn't [illegible] Mrs. Mayhew at all, unless you talk to her and she to you, and then you just can't help liking her right off, and always a cheery greeting from [illegible] you feel better.

POSTING SURPRISE

But his appointment as ambassador to Japan came as a complete surprise. It was one of the best-kept secrets in Ottawa history, not even a rumor came out of the capital.

Mrs. Mayhew, a busy [illegible] lady, bright and quick as a bird, a doting grandmother, but not one to rave about her offspring [illegible] has a son and daughter [illegible]

This then in brief is the Victoria couple who are going across the Pacific to Tokyo—to live in a mansion, to represent Canada in an important land, a country that is slowly but surely coming back to the world of free nations and great powers.

To the Japanese Mr. and Mrs. Mayhew will be Mr. and Mrs. Canada.

By them Canada will be largely judged in the next few years in the romantic Land of the Ris-

When Rev. Dr. A. E. Henry, pastor of Fairfield United Church was honored by the congregation on the occasion of the observance of the 20th anniversary of the church?

When the federal government proposed to establish 24 emergency landing fields across Canada on the transcontinental air lanes? The work was to be provided for unemployed men.

Knowledge From Americans Boosts Output in Britain

LONDON, Oct. 15 (Nana Kemnews) — Improved methods have caused a jump in British industrial output. Striking examples are given in the final report of the Anglo-American Council on Productivity.

The council has sponsored the [illegible] to the United States on the last three years and a half to study American methods.

In cotton industry there has been an overall increase of productivity by 15 per cent since 1948 and some foundries show 30 per cent.

Gray iron founding and the production of internal combustion engines both show increases of up to 50 per cent and the dropforging industry reports increased output.

Increased mechanization in the cotton industry has meant an increase of $84,000,000 since the war in the sales of textile machinery.

Described as a most important development, since spinning and weaving years from the cotton trade visited the U.S. is the increase in work study. The number of mills where this is applied has increased from 34 in 1949 to 111 in 1951, about 25 per cent of Lancashire's mills.

The main factors in producing results are increased mechanization improvements to layouts with a consequent better flow of production, and more piece-work and incentive-bonus schemes.

Particular attention has been given by the council to simplification, standardization and specialization.

It is not possible, says the report, to discriminate between what has been done as a result of the visits to America and what is part of the normal development of the postwar period.

In general "members of the council are aware that the best practices in United Kingdom industries compared favorably with the best practices in American industries. It was, however, clear that the average productivity was substantially higher in the United States."

The passing on of knowledge was not all one way. The Americans agree that valuable tips were picked up from members of the teams. Three American teams also visited Britain from the cotton, pressed metal and electrical industries.

Though many of the teams' reports have yet to be compiled, more than 500,000 of those issued have been distributed, and the people are becoming productivity-minded. "One of the most important benefits of the council's work is the improvement of the climate of opinion about productivity."

PRODUCTIVITY COUNCIL

The joint council has been wound up but the U.K. section will be merged into the proposed British Productivity Council.

The U.K. side consists of representatives from the Federation of British Industries, the British Employers' Confederation and the Trades Union Congress.

Teams were sent to the U.S. from 47 industries and were drawn from supervisory, technical and workshop staffs and there were 19 specialist teams. They visited 2,000 plants.

Lack of Aluminum Hampering Russia

Industry reports have it that perhaps two more car manufacturers also plan to step over the 200 horsepower level.

The 1952 Lincoln has a 160 horsepower engine, 45 less than that planned for the 1953 model. This year's Cadillac has a 190 horsepower engine and the two top Chrysler models both have 180.

Cars in the lower price range — Ford, Plymouth and Chevrolet — use horsepower ranging from 90 to 105.

(Victoria Talent On Review)

Mrs. Elizabeth Wells is good & mad at me because I promised to "do a column" for the [illegible] Independent Order of Foresters & I have never done it. I am very sorry Elizabeth & I hope your committee will forgive me. I was supposed to have the column in this Paper around the 1st of the month to give you all plenty of time to keep open THIS SUNDAY but maybe it's not too late even now. Anyhoo you can still get tickets at Fletcher's. You know where that is, of course. It's on the main drag . . . that street where they had the little white dumb and the chrome batons that we had a story about. The tickets are one buck and this affair is going to jam the Vic High and is called "Victoria Talent On Review." They are gonna split the taking 50-50 between Ed Farey's Christmas Party & IOOF Charities so HOW could there be a better cause?? Tippy O'Neil who is one of the best voices in radio is going to be the Emcee & I'm going to play Humoresque on the black keys only. If I get any kind of encouragement I might sing Because" as the only piece I know, because I used to have to do it "when Company came." Apart from this it's going to be a swell show with the Triangle Review including The Hy-Notes, Roly Walsh the impersonator, Helen Wilson soprano and Norma Langley on the harp. There is a dancing team of Brenda Myron and Don Leckie and that lovely comedy singer Dawn Dupper. The famous magician Ernie Crockford will be pulling rabbits out of hats and the "Three Gobs," Rickey, Fred and Jack have gobs of new things to show you. I guess you know that Rickey & Fred were the first & 2nd prize winners in the recent operatteur contest. Members of the Florence Clough Academy will dance their way into your hearts, so this ought to be a grand evening. Keep it open eh THIS SAT. NITE, Oct. 18th. Help yourself to a good time AND HELP THE CHILDREN TOO.

B.C. Premier Muffs Chance For Saving

VANCOUVER, Oct. 15 (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett, the man who pledged to save B.C. taxpayers money, passed up a chance to save himself some.

He mailed his personal donation of $1,000 Tuesday to the special fund set up by the city of Vancouver to help finance the 1954 British Empire and Commonwealth Games.

But he made a "mistake (or not?)" when he made his cheque out to "British Empire Games" instead of to the city because he missed an opportunity to claim the donation as an exemption from his 1952 income tax.

City officials are reported to be waiting now to see how Mayor Fred Hume, who also promised $1,000, writes his cheque.

Japanese Prophet Picks Eisenhower

TOKYO, Oct. 15 (AP) — A Japanese soothsayer who predicted President Truman's election in 1948 Wednesday picked Dwight D. Eisenhower to win this year's U.S. presidential race by a small margin. Prof. Donsho Kodama, a journeyman soothsayer for 35 years, said he based his prediction on ancient book of oracles.

Mayor Praises Vernon

Victoria could take a lesson in garbage and sewage disposal from the town of Vernon, in the opinion of Mayor Claude Harrison.

After visiting the sites of Vernon's new sewage disposal plant and garbage fertilizer processing, the mayor termed the interior town's methods "excellent."

He felt city officials here [illegible] system and overhaul Victoria's present "poor system."

"We could have a less costly and more efficient system," he said. He stated that AM Robert Macmillan, chairman of the garbage committee, is at present studying the problem here and will soon report to council on his findings.

The Case of the Negligent Nymph

BY ERLE STANLEY GARDNER

CHAPTER V

SYNOPSIS: Perry Mason seems to be on a spot. Having rescued from the water a young adventuress who has stolen a bottle with an interesting and incriminating manuscript in it, he is now in danger of being taken as an accomplice to a robbery. The paper in the bottle was a statement apparently made by one Minerva Danby, claiming that George S. Alder had disposed of his co-inheritor and half-sister, Corrine Lansing. The girl Mason rescued, Dorothy Fenner, seems to be a cousin of the unfortunate Corrine Lansing. Della Street, Mason's confidential secretary who picks up Mason at the dock after he has tied up his rented canoe, seems to think he has been taken in by the girl. At a road block Mason's car is stopped. Now go on with the story—

There were a dozen cars ahead, and several officers were examining credentials, asking questions. Mason showed his documents.

"You've been down here . . . Oh, Oh, you're Perry Mason, the lawyer." The officer smiled and said, "Pardon me for stopping you, Mr. Mason. It's okay, go ahead. We're looking for some gem thieves . . . However, as a matter of routine, I'd better check the person with you because it was a woman who . . . ."

"Miss Della Street, Mr. Mason's secretary," Della Street said, handing the officer her driving license.

He checked the driving license, glanced at her, and said, "Sorry, but we've been instructed to make a check. Down here on business, Mr. Mason?"

"Just looking up some witnesses," Mason said noncommittally, and eased on around the road block.

"Chief," Della Street said, suddenly serious, "do you suppose that girl did steal any jewels?"

"I don't think so. She had a bottle in her right hand containing a note which had apparently been thrown overboard from the Thayerbelle, George Alder's yacht, by a woman who was afraid she was going to be murdered and who was subsequently found dead.

"LOOKED OVER"

"And," Mason went on, "I looked this cousin of the dead woman over very carefully to make certain there wasn't anything concealed."

"Did you get her name?"

"Dorothy Fenner was the name she gave. She's related, as I said, to Corrine, the half sister who's been missing for several months. Now that we're past the road block I'll let you read something."

He took from his pocket the copy of the letter which Dorothy Fenner had made, and handed it to Della Street.

"It's a copy of the letter that was in the bottle. The girl is a good typist. I held the flashlight and read the original letter to her. She balanced a portable typewriter on her knees and made a copy."

Della Street switched on the map light on the dashboard, and read with increasing interest. "Good heavens, Chief, doesn't that letter give us a strangle hold on George S. Alder?"

"Or it gives George S. Alder a strangle hold on me."

"You mean that the whole thing was a plant?"

"That," Mason said, "is what's worrying me. Adler knows I'm representing that syndicate. He could have made a shrewd guess that I was going to drop by and look his island over. I didn't see where this swimming girl came from. The first thing I knew she was sliding along through the water, then she reached the island, walked out to stand outlined against the light of that illuminated No Trespassing sign, and started drying herself with a towel. One can't imagine anything better calculated to arrest the attention of a prowling canoeist."

WITH BINOCULARS

"And you with your binoculars!" Della Street said.

"Me with my binoculars and my curiosity, leading with my chin. The whole thing was perfectly timed. After her discovery the girl had just enough head start to reach the water in front of my canoe before they turned the dog loose."

"And the dog was right at her heels. Naturally I pushed the dog away and invited the girl to get in. She was good-looking, casually flippant — she didn't seem like a thief — and you have to admit the approach was unusual."

They drove in silence for a while, then Della Street said: "And then George Adler announces she took fifty thousand dollars worth of jewels and had a male accomplice waiting in a boat. Just where does that leave you, Chief?"

"Right behind the eight ball. If I'd done the obvious thing, told this girl who I was, persuaded her to let me take the letter—well, that would have left me really in a spot."

"But, as it is, she doesn't know who you are," Della Street pointed out.

"If it's a trap she does," Mason said. "In that case she knew before she ever swam ashore and started drying herself with a bath towel, when she conveniently left for the police to find—and I suppose there's a laundry mark on that bath towel which will enable the police to trace her."

Della Street folded the copy of the letter, handed it back to Perry Mason. "This letter is dynamite," she said.

* * *

At nine-five Monday morning when Mason entered his office, Della Street cupped her hand over the mouthpiece of the telephone and said rapidly, "Mrs. Brawley, the matron at the jail in Las Alisas, has a prisoner there, a Dorothy Fenner, held on suspicion of a jewel robbery, who wants to consult an attorney, and wants you."

"Oh, oh," Mason said. "It's a trap then. She knew who I was all along."

"Perhaps she didn't," Della Street said, her hand still over the mouthpiece. "Do you want me to send Jackson down there and let him talk with her? That way you can find out whether it's just a coincidence or . . ."

Mason grinned. "Thanks for the lifesaver, Della. That's what we'll do."

Della Street took her hand from the mouthpiece, said, "We'll have Mr. Jackson, Mr. Mason's clerk, come down and interview Miss Fenner." Della Street hung up and cocked a quizzical eyebrow at her employer. "Will you tell Jackson to use his judgment about . . ."

Mason shook his head and said, "I'll tell him that we're going to represent her. I just want him to find out how she happened to get in touch with us. That's all."

SUPPOSE . . .

"But suppose it wasn't a trap. Suppose she doesn't know, and . . ."

"And would get some other attorney," Perry Mason said. "And then, midway through the trial, she'd happen to see my picture or catch a glimpse of me in court and blab out to this lawyer that I was the one they'd been referring to as the male accomplice. The lawyer would rush to the newspapers . . . No, Della, we're in this and we're going all the way. If it's not a trap we'll give Alder a going over, and if it is a trap, we'll smash our way out. Get Jackson in here."

A few moments later she came back with the blinking, beetle-browed Jackson a few steps behind her, peering owlishly through his thick-lensed glasses.

Mason said, "There a very interesting case down at the Las Alisas jail, a young woman whom we're going to represent. Her name's Dorothy Fenner. She's accused of having broken into the house of George S. Alder and stolen some $50,000 worth of jewels.

"I want bail fixed for her, and when you get a judge to fix bail, I want you to make the claim that the $50,000 worth of jewels is merely so much newspaper talk; that it's easy to say $50,000 in round figures, but that for the purposes of fixing bail we want to know exactly what jewelry was taken; otherwise we'll consider that the jewelry had only a nominal value and that bail should be fixed in a very nominal amount.

"And, above all, find out whether this young woman got in touch with me because of my reputation, because someone told her to give me a ring, or because she thinks she knows me."

"GET DRAKE"

When Jackson had gone, Mason turned to Della Street. "Get hold of Paul Drake for me, Della. Let's start some detectives working."

Paul Drake, head of the Drake Detective Agency, grinned amiably at them. "What's the pitch?" he drawled.

Mason said, "We want you to find out something about a nice murder case."

"Murder cases are never nice," Drake told him, "particularly your murder cases."

"This is a swell murder case," Mason said. "It involves a Miss Minerva Danby, evidently a curvaceous exponent of feminine pulchritude, who is supposed to have been drowned by slipping overboard from a yacht. . . ."

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♣	Pass	1♡	Pass
1♠	Pass	4♠	All Pass

South's bid of one spade was a psychic, made in anticipation of getting to three no-trumps and staving off the lead that appeared most threatening. Life Master William Rosen, of Chicago, made the bid in a tournament because he was in hopes of getting a favorable and much needed swing. But it wasn't the psychic bid, or the fact that, having made it, he stuck by it when North skip-raised, which made this one of Bill's favorite hands. It was the double-trump finesses and he smother play in hearts that combined with all the other unusual things about this single deal.

On the opening lead of a diamond, South won the first trick with the ace and pushed the jack of spades through. West covered and North's ace won. Now the next problem concerned the heart suit; how should South play it to avoid more than a single loser? He led a low heart from dummy and when East followed small, without a moment's hesitation, South decided that West had the king, probably with at least one of the lesser honors. So South put in the seven to let West win the trick with the heart ten. Back came a second diamond, won by South's king. Next the eight of spades was finessed and another spade lead to pick up the ten.

Then came the play that put the icing on the top score. South returned to his hand with the ace of clubs and led the queen of hearts through West. When East's jack transformed the trick into a picture gallery of all four top honors, South made five-odd, conceding North's club in addition to the single heart trick already lost.

Animal Shelter Had Good Year; Cat Annex Opening Set Oct. 25

ANIMAL QUESTION BOX

BY B. ROBERT MAGGS
Inspector-Manager, Victoria S.P.C.A.

One year ago today I was appointed inspector for the Victoria branch of the S.P.C.A., and even though there have been some "rough spots," I think that it has been a good year, and I hope the beginning of even better ones.

Our shelter is more than twice the size it was a year ago. We are handling about three times as many animals. We have a real honest-to-goodness cat shelter—at last—an isolation ward for incoming animals, and a maternity ward for little visitors who are "expecting."

In this work, as in any work in which the public is particularly interested, one is open to criticism. Fortunately however, I am more concerned with pleasing animals than human beings. All the good work done in the past year is by no means attributable to yours truly.

To operate the S.P.C.A. successfully, it takes a great deal of co-operation of the public and a good executive S.P.C.A. committee—I have had both, as well as the invaluable help of my wife.

I could not possibly know of some of the cases of animals in distress if it were not for the kind people who take the trouble to report them. Financially the S.P.C.A. could not operate were it not for you good people who become members or send in donations.

It would not have been possible to build the Cat Shelter without the co-operation of the S.P.C.A. committee, two of whom, Mr. Paul Green and Major J. B. Morison, have worked solidly and hard for the past two months, voluntarily.

Take a bow, gentlemen, your labors have been truly appreciated. When one realizes that all executive committee work is voluntary, it makes one happy to be associated with such fine people. I hope my future years here have as happy an ending as this one.

Along with today's column there is a picture of a poor mother dog who had seven pups in a hollow log out in Saanich. A very kind lady called us on Thanksgiving Day and reported that the dog was apparently ownerless and needed attention. We went out to Keatings Cross-roads near the high school, and coaxed "Mama" from under the log and brought her and her little family to the shelter.

She took a very "dim view" of us disturbing her at first, but after she had had Thanksgiving dinner on the house, and a nice warm bed to snuggle her puppies in, she became quite friendly.

And now for the Question Box:

Mrs. N. J.—What are some of the things a person should NOT feed to dogs?

Ans. There are a lot of things that should never be fed to dogs, such as fish bones, poultry bones, cabbage, cauliflower, potatoes, candy, pastry and sweets. About four volumes a year are written about feeding the dog. They are all needed, for most animals are driven to sickness or death by the kindness of their owners in feeding them too much, too often or the wrong food.

L. K.—Can you tell me what breed of dog it was that is mentioned so much in Walter Scott's "Guy Mannering."

Ans. The Dandie Dinmont terrier. Scott was a fancier of that breed.

Ques.—What is chorea and is there a cure?

Ans. A disease usually following distemper. Consists of a twitching of the muscles, perhaps one part of the body, perhaps all parts. Essentially a nervous condition and is essentially incurable. A slight attack may not affect the dog much and he may live for years. If the case is severe it is advisable in order to avoid further pain that the dog be destroyed. However, take the dog to a veterinary for qualified advice as to the severity of the case.

L.P.M.—Is a beginner at goat raising and has a doe that has not come in season, when it should.

Ans. Give a dessertspoon-full of dicalcium phosphate in the grain once a day for three weeks. I would also advise you to get the "Goat Raising in B.C." bulletin No. 64 from the livestock branch of the Department of Agriculture.

Also get in touch with J. E. Harvey, secretary and editor of The Bleat, a paper put out exclusively for goat-breeders. J. E. Harvey is a "Miss," so don't address your letters "Dear Sir."

P.D.—Where did the Gordon setter originate?

A. The Gordon can be traced back for 100 years to the castle of the Duke of Gordon, but whether the nobleman laid the foundation stone of the present breed of black and tan setter becomes a matter of speculation. It is not the least improbable that these setters have been bred by crossing the English setter with a black and tan collie, as certain Gordons exhibit more than a trace of the collie element.

A.S.—Where does the dachshund get his name?

A. From the dachs, an animal much like our badger, and which is hunted out of its hole by the dachshund.

Mrs. E.S.—I have moved into a new neighborhood recently. My neighbors' cats, one on each side of my house, seem to want to live at my house instead of their own home. What to do?

A. You should feel flattered. If one cat adopts you, it could be that it needs a home, but when two cats adopt you, that's something. G. E. Mortimore has the same trouble, cats just adopt him willy-nilly. Maybe I can get him to advise you in his column. Do not feed the cats—maybe they will go home.

Mrs. J.L.B. — Has an elderly Cairn who has lately taken up horticultural activities. It never used to dig in the garden before, but does now despite all remonstrance.

A. Sometimes an old dog will start digging when it never did before because its nails are becoming too long, or you might have used some kind of fertilizer that is peculiarly attractive to him. I had a dog once that never dug up my flower beds until I used bone meal on them, but it might be that he needs the exercise. You could try having his nails clipped.

Mother looks fondly at her young family after moving from a hollow log in Saanich to the comfort of Victoria's S.P.C.A. shelter.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Fly-by-Nights License Target Say Builders

C. C. Warren, spokesman for local supply firms, said yesterday local builders are asking municipal councils to license transient contractors because of a Mainland situation, not a local one.

Resolutions have been pre-

Esquimalt councils by the Victoria Retail Lumber & Shingle Co-operative Association.

Mr. Warren said on the Mainland fly-by-night contractors sometimes undertake contracts then leave before the poor quality of their work is discovered.

Licensing transients would protect people here, he said.

Island Girl New Victim Of Polio

VANCOUVER, Oct. 15 (CP).—Health officials today confirmed that a 12-year-old girl flown yesterday from Campbell River is suffering from poliomyelitis.

They also list a 32-year-old Kerrisdale man as a polio sufferer, bringing the total number of cases treated in Vancouver this year to 222.

Of this total 85 cases have come from the city itself, 52 from other parts of the metropolitan area and 85 from outside points.

Governor of V.O.N. Will Outline New Program for Home-Nursing

A home-nursing scheme now being tried in Montreal will be outlined to Victorians by Col. Wilfred Bovey, governor of the Victorian Order of Nurses in Canada and president of the Reddy Memorial Hospital, Montreal.

Col. Bovey will tell of the success of the Montreal scheme in a talk to the medical-social division of the Community Welfare Council, Monday, October 20, at 8 p.m., in Spencerhouse.

The Montreal scheme is patterned after a system used in New York for some time. To relieve overcrowding in hospitals and to reduce cost of caring for the sick, medical teams have been organized to provide treatment to sick persons in their homes.

The teams operate out of hospitals and, each is headed by a doctor. Specialists can be called in when the doctors think such is in the patient's interest.

Dr. J. Murray Anderson, medical superintendent of Royal Jubilee Hospital, will be chairman of the Monday meeting.
